PEERLESS TREATMENT is a boon to all film. Without such protection, your film is much more susceptible to damage . . . and damaged prints can distract audiences. "Peerless Treatment" is a good specification to include in all your purchase orders for new prints.

And, if some of your prints have had hard use, call on PEERLESS RECONDITIONING to salvage them. Our skilled staff and special equipment can do wonders to restore them to good condition . . . not only your prints, but also your negatives and originals.

Inspection • Cleaning • Scratches removed Perforations repaired • Splices remade • Curl or Brittleness remedied
Shrunken originals restored to printing tolerance

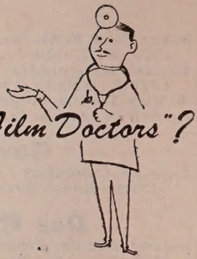
Why should you send your film to... "The Film Doctors"?



TO REDUCE FILM COSTS DRASTICALLY . . .

If you have films in your library that must be "junked" because they are scratched, dirty or damaged in some way—here's a guaranteed solution! Have your prints RAPIDWELD-ed by "The Film Doctors"—cleaned, scratches removed and damages repaired. They come back like new . . . and at a fraction of the replacement cost you now face.

TO MAKE YOUR PRINTS LAST FOREVER . . .

If you have new film in your library that you know will be damaged (scratched) from even the most normal usage—have them RAPIDTREAT-ed by "The Film Doctors" with an inexpensive, protective coating. Your film will resist scratches and stay like new despite repeated handling.

TO SOLVE YOUR FILM PROBLEMS . . .

Whether laboratory, film producer, library, television studio, educational institution or industrial film user, "The Film Doctors" in their modern new laboratory can restore your prints to original screening quality, and then preserve that quality for years.

For further information on RAPIDWELD and RAPIDTREAT, and our money-saving prices — WRITE FOR "THE FILM DOCTORS" BROCHURE

The direction— of any film is a complex procedure where experience plays an important part in obtaining the desired effects. And so it is in the film processing laboratory.

At Precision, expert guidance through each phase of the processing operation assures producers, cameramen and directors the finest possible results.

All of which leads to another form of direction: West of 5th Avenue on 46th Street in New York to Precision. That's the right direction for you wherever you are and whatever your film processing problem.

In everything there is one best...in film processing, it's Precision.

THE MOTION PICTURE ASSOCIATION

THE MOTION PICTURE ASSOCIATION in 1956 is expected to play an increasingly vital role in furthering the interests of the film industry.

Under the leadership of President Eric A. Johnston, the association has greatly widened the scope of its activities. Expansion and streamlining of foreign activities in 1956 are expected to help the industry meet its overseas problems.

On the domestic front, the association is placing greater accent on programs designed to bolster the box office and better the industry's public relations. Increased activities are expected in the field of economic and technical research, as well as in self-regulation and community-exhibitor relations programs of the association. A long-time fighter for freedom of the screen, Johnston is also expected to intensify association activities designed to bring motion pictures under the full protection of the Constitution. Victories in censorship cases before the Supreme Court of the United States and in state courts during the year gave this program new impetus.

Expansion of the association's visual education program is also expected during the year. The association has worked closely with leading educators to develop the maximum usefulness of motion pictures in education. In the theatrical entertainment field, Johnston is studying plans to strengthen the Children's Film Library program, which has had a wide measure of success in assuring the availability of films specifically suitable for children.

PRODUCTION CODE ADMINISTRATION

SELF-REGULATION of motion picture production evolved gradually from early beginnings in 1922 when the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America was founded. Several progressive steps to establish higher standards of distribution culminated in the adoption on March 31, 1930, of the Production Code, which continues as the basic document in the industry's policy of self-regulation.

This Code, a voluntary agreement entered into by the member companies, acknowledges the producers' responsibility to the public and asks in return "a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problems and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people."

The Code machinery of self-regulation operates at four points:

1. The original story or play is submitted to the Production Code Administration for suggestion and criticism before the first screen adaptation is written.
2. When the script is completed, it is submitted for a check with Code requirements.
3. In the early stages of production, members of the Production Code Administration staff are often called in to discuss sequences that present problems.
4. After this careful reviewing all along the way, the finished picture is reviewed and, if it meets Code requirements, a certificate of approval is issued.

The Code machinery is available to all producers, foreign or domestic, whether or not they are members of the Association, a service increasingly utilized.

How well the Production Code Administration has performed its functions in maintaining both Code Standards and the integrity and vigor of the screen as a medium of entertainment is evidenced by the steady stream of high quality pictures that continues to flow from the studios.

ADVERTISING CODE ADMINISTRATION

AS WITH all forms of self-regulation in the motion picture industry, the efforts of the member companies of the Association, through the provisions of the Advertising Code (adopted June 10, 1930), are directed toward promoting and maintaining a high standard of advertising throughout the industry. This cooperative effort brings into conformity with the requirements of good taste all press books, newspaper advertising, trailers, outdoor displays, novelties and other forms of publicity and exploitation.

All motion picture producers, whether or not they are members of the Motion Picture Association, who accept the Production Code seal on their product thereby agree to conform also to the Advertising Code.

To insure uniform interpretation of the Code, all advertising material is submitted in advance to the Advertising Code Administration at the Association's office in New York or its branch in Hollywood.

TITLE REGISTRATION BUREAU

IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVED by motion picture executives and theater managers that an appropriate and intriguing title that arouses public curiosity, or a title that has achieved fame and wide popularity as a book or play, has a profound influence on the success or popularity of a motion picture. Numerous examples of distinctive and unusual titles on widely popular pictures support the theory. For this reason more and more attention is being given to titles by the producers and distributors of modern motion pictures.

The difficulty of protecting valuable property rights in motion picture titles in the absence of copyright protection on the title itself and the expense and delays of litigation, to establish usage rights brought about the gradual development of a voluntary method of title registration in a central agency by the members of the Association. The present procedure for the registration of titles was established by the Association in 1936 for its members and such non-member producing and distributing companies as desire to use the service.

In all the years the title registration service has been operating few companies once using the registration service for its titles have ever requested it be discontinued for them. Now 223 motion picture companies use the services of Title Registration Bureau, submitting for registration an average of 4,500 titles a year. Each company using the Bureau receives a daily report of all title registrations.

The registration of motion picture titles to prevent duplication and harmful similarities serves a dual purpose: first, it enables the theater going public to readily identify the motion pictures it wants to see without confusion or misleading similarity between titles; and second, it protects the valuable titles of published books and plays acquired for motion picture production, and original titles with popular appeal, against the use of identical or unfairly similar titles by any producer or distributor that is a party to the title registration voluntary agreement. By such agreement each participating company undertakes to refrain from using such registered title until the prior registration is terminated or otherwise released for use.

Titles that are considered to be salacious, indecent, obscene or otherwise offensive are not accepted for registration. Differences of opinion on similarities and other title controversies are adjusted first by direct negotiation and discussion between the registrants involved, but may be referred to the Association for possible mediation.

If this fails to adjust the dispute it is then referred to arbitration for a final decision. In the past year 845 formal protests were filed with the Bureau against the registration of titles deemed to be too similar to a title already registered. All but 13 of these protests were adjusted by friendly negotiation between the companies and by mutual agreement without resorting to an arbitration of the dispute.

By agreement the producers and distributors who participate in title registration limit the number of original titles which any company may have in registration at one time, so that an unreasonable number of titles will not be reserved indefinitely but not used on a produced picture. Of course as the pictures are produced and released the titles are taken off the "priority registration" and placed on the release index or list of produced motion pictures.

Whenever movies are produced under titles based on a copyrighted work, such titles are automatically placed on a permanently protected list. In addition to these, any studio may ask permanent protection for up to 250 original titles. Beyond these, all titles registered and used for released pictures are protected for a four-year period. During the period of such protection, no other company may use the title unless it obtains clearance from the prior registrant.

Titles of pictures intended for production are granted indefinite protection if affixed to copyrighted material. Otherwise, if in an original title classification, a one-year period of protection is afforded. Each registrant is limited to one hundred original feature titles and 200 original short-subject titles at any one time. If an original title is not used within the year and the registrant cannot show evidence of intention to produce the subject within the succeeding six months, the title becomes available to any other company which has expressed interest in the identical title.

The indexes of titles of motion pictures produced and released by member companies keeps growing every year. In 1937 there were 36,000 titles of feature pictures and short subjects registered on the release index, today there are over 50,000 titles registered, and the index file used to call attention to similarities with titles previously registered, based upon the use of key words, now has over 150,000 cards in it.

For those companies who do not register titles with the Bureau, titles are considered and approved for suitability in connection with the Code of Production Standards. Last year 76 titles were thus approved and since 1937 over 4,930 such titles have been considered by the Bureau for use on pictures that have received Code approval.

MOTION PICTURE EXPORT ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA

AMERICAN motion pictures constitute one of this country's leading export commodities. They are widely exhibited in every country of the world with the exception of the Soviet Union and its satellite countries.

Monetary returns from motion pictures in foreign markets account for a substantial portion of the American film industry's total revenue. Few other American industries rely on foreign markets to such an extent.

In addition to their commercial importance, American films—more than any other medium of mass communication—are recognized as a powerful influence in fostering democratic attitudes and in conveying to peoples abroad an understanding of American life, customs and institutions. While American movies are popular primarily because of their superior entertainment values, the social and ideological by-products which they carry have had a tremendous impact on film-goers of every nation in which American films are exhibited.

The heavy reliance of the American film industry on revenues from abroad and the increasingly vital role its product is playing as ambassadors of democracy have invested the Motion Picture Export Association of America, Inc., with important responsibilities.

Constant objective of the Division's efforts is to hold down to a minimum, through negotiation, the restraints officially imposed by many foreign governments on the free distribution of American films, and to eliminate these curbs wherever possible. Typical of the barriers placed in the path of American films abroad are limitations on film imports, screen quotas, excessive import duties, dubbing taxes, and substantial levies on theaters, admissions and earnings.

Gains in the box office volume of American films and monetary returns from overseas markets paralleled the recovery of Europe and Asia from the economic and political disruptions of the post-war years.

By the end of 1951, a resurgence in the popularity of American films abroad increased aggregate business volume enough to neutralize the serious monetary losses that ensued from the spate of currency devaluations which jolted the American film companies in 1949-50. Overseas business and remittances have increased steadily since then.

Even though there has been little abatement in the obstacles that impede American film operations overseas, business volume and remittances from foreign markets showed further their gains in 1955, topping even the high figures of the preceding year. Revenues from abroad last year are estimated to have reached a record total during the 12-month period.

Through MPEA efforts and negotiations, following are some of the noteworthy developments overseas in 1955.

Large amounts of member company film earnings, accumulated in Brazil since 1951, continued to be unfrozen and transferred. Current earnings also continued to be remitted on favorable terms.

A new agreement was negotiated in Paris by Eric A. Johnston covering film imports to France for 1956 and 1957.

A substantial portion of 1954 blocked funds were transferred from Indonesia following extensive negotiations with officials of that government.

Substantial remittance arrangements also were made with Japan, Italy, and France.

The agreement with Norway was renewed for another year.

In the Fall of 1955 the film agreement with the British Government was renewed with slightly improved terms, thus continuing the excellent British relationships of the industry.

New understandings also were reached with Pakistan and Formosa.

The distribution functions and responsibilities of the original MPEA which was created in 1945 to operate on an interim basis in eleven foreign countries have now largely been discharged. Except in one country, Yugoslavia, member companies have resumed individual operation and the unified distribution set-ups under MPEA have either been liquidated or are now in the process of being liquidated.

MPEA outposts abroad are located in London, Paris, Frankfurt, Stockholm, Rome, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo, India and Indonesia.

MPEA's field representatives serve as liaison with foreign film distributors and with member company distributors and report to MPEA headquarters on all matters relating to motion picture interests in their respective areas. Presence of these men in the field enables the MPEA to take prompt action on matters requiring remedial attention. Not infrequently, when adverse legislation is anticipated, speedy appeal and negotiation by MPEA have been successful in delaying and discouraging enactment.

Film Boards of Trade composed of local representatives of American motion picture distributors are maintained in 29 foreign countries. They operate under the general guidance of the Association and their activities, reported regularly and in detail, are shared with member companies.

The Advisory Unit for Foreign Films, created by Johnston in 1950 as an integral part of MPEA, continued its program of assistance to foreign film producers who seek its services.

The unit was set up for the purpose of making available to foreign producers or their representatives the information, knowledge and merchandising experience needed to help them market their product in the United States. Its basic objective is to encourage the importation of more good foreign films in this country, thereby helping to stimulate the flow of dollars to film-producing countries abroad.

The Advisory Unit is essentially consultative in character. Statitsics on the American film market compiled specially by the Unit for foreign film producers are readily available. The Unit gives information on the clearance of films through U.S. customs; on standard distribution and exhibition practices; the operation of the Production Code; state and local censorship regulations, and other items—all calculated to smooth the path of the overseas producer who has a film to sell here.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS DEPARTMENT

THE Community Relations Department provides information and assistance to civic, cultural and educational community leaders who are interested in directing the attention of the public to worthwhile current motion pictures presented in theatres. The department also assists theatre managers to adjust their entertainment programs to the needs of the entire family and the interests of important groups in their communities. Among the activities to which the department gives its cooperation, or sponsors, are the following:

Preview Services

The department, through the cooperation of motion picture distributors, provides previewing facilities affording the following national groups opportunity for early screenings of pictures:

American Association of University Women
American Jewish Committee
American Library Association
Children's Film Library Committee
National Society Daughters of the American Revolution
National Federation of Music Clubs
Federation of Motion Picture Councils, Inc.
General Federation of Womens Clubs
Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.
National Council of Women of the U. S.
Protestant Motion Picture Council
United Church Women
National Congress of Parents and Teachers
Schools Motion Picture Committee

Each of these national organizations designates a national motion picture chairman who in turn appoints a preview chairman and an editorial chairman. The preview committees vary in size, having from ten to fifty reviewers.

Each national organization distributes its own preview reports directly to its members, either through mimeographed or printed bulletins or in their national house organs or magazines.

Joint Estimates of Current Entertainment Films

For the larger national distribution, concerned rather with a joint estimate of motion pictures than with the point of view of the individual organization, the preview chairmen, sitting as an editorial board, compile reviews published as the JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT ENTERTAINMENT FILMS. This semi-monthly report is popularly known as the "Green Sheet." JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT ENTERTAINMENT FILMS provides three basic appraisals.

Audience suitability classifications:

F—Family.
YP—Young People.
A—Adults.
MYP—Mature Young People.

In addition, the "Green Sheet" provides an appraisal of each picture's content as to entertainment value, moral acceptability, and educational merit.

As the audience classifications are not to be interpreted as merit classifications, the reviews of the pictures undertake to express the editorial board's judgment. Photoplays held to have outstanding merit are awarded the distinction of a star. Where the opinions of the editorial chairmen are not in agreement, the estimate of the majority is reflected in the appraisal, and the exceptions, either in audience classification or general ratings, are noted.

The Motion Picture Association prints and distributes JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT ENTERTAINMENT FILMS for the national groups doing the previewing.

Subscriptions to JOINT ESTIMATES are available to individuals identified with some organized group in their community and to interested exhibitors. Requests to obtain the "Green Sheet" should be addressed to the Joint Estimates of Current Entertainment Films, 28 West 44th Street, New York 36, N. Y. Upon receipt of such request, a questionnaire will be mailed to the applicant asking what type of materials is desired, and what affiliations with public activities each applicant has in his or her community. Upon receipt of the questionnaire, the applicant will be placed on the mailing list to receive not only the JOINT ESTIMATES but other material related to specialized phases of motion picture art or industry applicable to the indicated interest or activity of the recipient.

Children's Film Library

In the brochure—available on request—explaining the Children's Film Library, Eric Johnston placed this introduction:

"The Children's Film Library has but one aim and purpose: to keep constantly available for Saturday showings the finest possible films for the children of America.

"Ageless stories by Mark Twain, Robert Louis Stevenson, Lewis Carroll, James Fenimore Cooper and Booth Tarkington take their place in the Library beside modern tales of stirring historical happenings—life in foreign lands—diverting situations that lead to laughter.

"In undertaking this project, the motion picture industry is proud to have a part in preserving for younger audiences the photoplays which the children love and have made their own.

"If parents will encourage the screening of these pictures at their neighborhood theatres on Saturday shows, their children, I believe, will be enriched in literature, advanture, fantasy and fun. We present the CHILDREN'S FILM LIBRARY with that in mind."

In the Children's Film Library, there are now thirty-five pictures; additional photoplays in current release are available to exhibitors for children's programs; the key to these pictures are ratings which appear in the semi-monthly JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT ENTERTAINMENT FILMS. Two ratings are made: CPR (Recommended for children's programs) and CPA (Acceptable for Children's Programs).

All the films in the Children's Film Library are previewed by groups of children as well as by the National Children's Film Library Committee; this dual appraisal and selection guarantees both the moral and age classification suitability and the entertainment acceptability of these pictures for special children's programs.

Organizations participating in the National Children's Film Library are:

Protestant Motion Picture Council.
United Council of Church Women.
American Library Association.
National Congress of Parents and Teachers
National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.
Parents' Magazine.
National Federation of Music Clubs.
Schools Motion Picture Committee.
American Association of University Women.
American Jewish Committee.
General Federation of Women's Clubs.
International Federation of Catholic Alumnae.
Girl Scouts of America.
National Council of Women of the U. S.

For advice and guidance in the initiation of special children's programs or cooperation from exhibitors, address Marjorie Granger Dawson, director, National Children's Film Library, 28 West 44th Street, New York 18, N. Y.

In the transition from the use of inflammable film to non-inflammable film, a number of the pictures in the Children's Film Library were withdrawn from the Library. For information on pictures now available, inquiry should be made to the director.

Photoplay Appreciation

IT is estimated that not less than 6,000,000 students in elementary and secondary schools, colleges and universities receive more or less detailed guidance from their teachers in the appreciative study of appropriate motion picture feature and short subjects currently offered in the theaters. This technique is rapidly spreading, especially in high schools and junior high schools. These progressive teachers use the local motion picture theater for illustrative material just as they use the public library for collateral reading. Also, they have found it practical to mould the taste of their pupils toward the development of discriminating habits of choice in the selection of motion picture entertainment. In these activities teachers use study guides, a number of which are published during each school year, classroom bulletins mailed by the Community Relations Department, selected still pictures chosen with special reference to their educational value and research photograph exhibits which are regularly displayed in about 6,500 public libraries and school libraries. Interested teachers are usually able to obtain this material through local exhibitors who secure it from the distributors of the pictures; where this is not possible, teachers may contact Motion Picture Association Inc., 28 W. 44th St., New York 36, N. Y., direct.

Exhibits Available to Schools and Libraries

DISPLAYS of various types, research exhibits, and brochures featuring the historical background, literary antecedents and technical data concerning production are available from the Department of Community Relations without cost. The research exhibits —approximately 20"x30" and including from three to 12 posters—present source materials utilized in designing costumes, sets, properties, story sources and other collaterals used in the process of translating fiction, biography, history, etc., to motion pictures. The brochures covering much the same field are usable for intimate classroom study as well as display.

The Community Relations Department, in cooperation with educational groups and librarians, selects the pictures to receive this treatment. The cultural, social and educational as well as entertainment values of the pictures are the determining factors. The interest in and desire for mutual collaboration on the part of the producer-members of the Association makes this service possible.

Exhibitors, where it is known that these materials are not locally used, should feel no hesitancy in approaching school administrators or librarians concerning their value. They are now regularly in use by more than 6,000 high schools and 4,000 libraries. While many schools and libraries have limitations and restrictions inherent in the public character of their institutions, once they have realized that these display materials have been designed with a knowledge of their problems, welcome them. Only mutual respect can grow from the realization that many current photoplays have great educational value and that filming of the classics greatly extends the public's reading of them. These materials enhance the value of both and attract the public to those photoplays which, because they contribute constructive ideas and ideals as well as entertain, should be universally seen.

Speakers Bureau

The Community Relations Department does not maintain a formal Speakers Bureau but is prepared to cooperate wherever possible in providing speakers for programs concerned with the moral, social or entertainment value of motion pictures. Requests for speakers should be made as far in advance as possible to the Community Relations Department,

Motion Picture Association of America, Inc.,
28 West 44th Street, New York 36, N. Y.

The MPAA Library

The MPAA Library was established ten years ago, to serve as repository and reference for information on matters pertaining to film industry activities.

The informational services of the Library are available not only to MPAA staff members and member companies, but as well to non-members, exhibitors, educational institutions, civic groups, etc. The MPAA librarian each year answers by mail and phone hundreds of individual requests for information from industry as well as non-industry sources.

Compactly set up along institutional lines, the Library today has on its shelves some 2,000 texts on practically every phase and aspect of the film business. Supplementing these are thousands of pamphlets and clippings which have been carefully catalogued and cross-referenced. In addition, the Library keeps a running file of nearly every periodical in the film field and maintains bound volumes of the more important motion picture trade publications.

Another important service of the Library is to keep industry executives abreast of current comment on the motion picture business through the preparation of resumes and digests of significant new texts and published materials.

From its vast store of information the Library supplies, on request, basic materials for speeches and articles on motion picture topics to people within and without the industry. Scores of such requests during the past year have come from teachers and students.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

THE EDUCATIONAL SERVICES DEPARTMENT, established in 1946, functions as the liaison between the motion picture industry and educational agencies and organizations.

This is a two-way program, through which

1. The industry makes contacts with educational leaders for cooperation in the exploitation of feature films and shorts which have educational application, and
2. Extends to educational agencies such services of the industry as will contribute to educational objectives.

Through this Department, the industry is able to render a variety of services to education. These services greatly expand the use of the motion picture in schools and colleges, and give to the motion picture an increasing function within the educational world.

This program of educational services is based largely on the program of Teaching Film Custodians, Inc., the non-profit distribution affiliate of the industry, organized in 1938 to make short subjects available to schools. These short subjects, not available from other sources, were selected by groups of subject matter specialists, and are licensed on a long-term basis to educational film libraries maintained by state, county and city school systems.

The program is carried on without compensation to the producing companies and without profit to any education institution responsible for implementing this service. This program implements the statement, "developing the educatioal, as well as the entertainment values and general usefulness of the motion picture," which was included in the purposes for which the Motion Picture Association was formed in 1922.

Under this program, nearly 500 non-current theatrical short subjects were made available in 1939. These were selected from about 15,000 short subjects, then in the vaults of the member companies, for use in educational institutions in strictly classroom work.

The selections were made under the supervision of the Advisory Committee on the Use of Motion Pictures in Education.

For the purpose of handling the physical distribution of the films, the educators who were members of this Advisory Committee formed themselves into a non-profit corporation known as Teaching Film Custodians, Inc.

In 1943 the member companies of the Motion Picture Association of America authorized Teaching Film Custodians, Inc. to excerpt non-current feature pictures in the interests of making classroom verions for study in classes of English Literature, social science and other curriculum areas. The excerpted versions of feature photoplays are distributed for classroom use under the same licensing terms which govern the distribution of short subjects.

Under the terms and conditions of the contracts with the producing companies, the trustees of Teaching Film Custodians, Inc. are permitted to license non-current short subjects and excerpted versions of feature pictures to schools for limited periods with stated limitations as follows:

> "Prints will be furnished only to bonafide educational institutions and agencies; the exhibitions shall be before classroom or kindred groups composed only of bonafide students or enrolled members of such educational institutions or agencies, and such exhibitions shall be an integral factor of class or group study and discussion.
> "Admission fees, directly or indirectly, shall never be charged or permitted to be paid for admission at the door or otherwise in advance or afterwards, for the right to attend either single exhibitions or a series of such exhibitions."

Under the contract, these classroom pictures must be projected without change or alteration. The unauthorized copying of these films is a violation of the United States copyright law. Any unauthorized exhibition of these pictures would also be a violation of the copvright law.

The advisory committee has prepared a Handbook of Films for Classroom Use, listing and describing the short subjects and excerpted versions of feature pictures which, under this plan, are made available for educational purposes.

The Advisory Committee wishes to emphasize the experimental nature of this work and invites the cooperation of all teachers who use these films. It is hoped that records of the responses of pupils will be kept and that copies will be sent to the office of the Managing Trustee. These reports will be used as guides to the selection of additional pictures which are not now available. Schools of education and other research agencies are invited to send in the results of any investigations that they may make on the educational value of these pictures.

All funds over and above actual handling and distribution costs which accrue from rental fees for Teaching Film Custodians pictures are devoted to the further development of audio-visual education. Among the experimental and research projects to which Teaching Film Custodians has contributed are the following: The Motion Picture Research Project, Yale University; the Commission on Motion Pictures, American Council on Education; The Division of Audio Visual Education, National Education Association; and the Research Project in Film Evaluation in cooperation with the Adult Education Association, and regional audio-visual conferences in New York City; University of Syracuse; Atlanta, Ga.; University of Kansas; Los Angeles, Calif. (2) ; Sacramento, Calif.; University of Oklahoma; Hood River, Oregon; Indiana University (2); University of New Hampshire (2) ; University of Florida; Virginia State College at the request of the Conference of Presidents of Negro Land Grant Colleges; and the State University of Iowa. In conjunction with the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Teaching Film Custodians has been co-sponsor of the Curriculum Enrichment Program in Rural High Schools, State Department of Education, Nebraska, and The Evaluation of Teacher Training Activities in Audio-Visual Education, State College of Washington. The Nebraska Program, based on a 4-year comprehensive study, is described in the book, "Enriching the Curriculum Through Motion Pictures," by Dr. W. C. Meierhenry.

The authorization by the member companies of the Motion Picture Association to excerpt non-current feature pictures has resulted in the expansion of the educational services program in the preparation of films to meet specific educational objectives. National organizations of teachers in specialized subject-matter areas seek the cooperation of the Educational Services Department, and appoint collaborating committees to assist in preparing useful materials excerpted from feature picture footage.

In 1946, the National Council for the Social Studies appointed the following committee:

Dr. William H. Hartley, Chairman, Associate Editor for Social Education; Dr. W. Kenneth Fulkerson, Director of Social Studies, Rochester City Schools; Dr. Frederick H. Stutz, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.; Dr. Lewis Paul Todd, Editor, "Social Education," Washington, D. C.; and Dr. Richard E. Thursfield, Chairman of the Department of Education, University of Rochester.

This committee, working closely with the staff of Teaching Film Custodians, and with the Educational Services Department of the Motion Picture Association, has prepared subjects for use in world history classes, a series of subjects for use in classes on the problems on democracy and subjects on United States history.

The costs of this excerpting program are paid by Teaching Film Custodians, and the films when completed and approved are distributed by Teaching Film Custodians.

Teaching Film Custodians also sponsors and collaborates with audio-visual committees representing national associations of educators in preparing excerpted versions of feature pictures for classroom use. Among the organizations participating in this program are the Music Educators National Conference, the National Council for the Social Studies, the National Council of Teachers of English, National Science Teachers Association, American Vocational Association, American Home Economics Associations, Department of Home Economics of the N. E. A., and American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

A committee of the National Council of Teachers of English is now in the process of developing a program to expand the series of excerpted films in the field of English literature. A 17-minute motion picture, "Understanding Movies," has been completed for use in English, speech, dramatics and motion picture appreciation.

Other subject matter area interests are in the process of negotiation with the Educational Services Department for participation in the excerpting program.

This program has made the motion picture industry a very useful ally to education, and has developed common interests between the industry and educational leaders which results in a clearer understanding of the problems of both groups.

The series of informational and vocational films on the motion picture industry is distributed by Teaching Film Custodians, as produced by the member companies of MPAA: Let's Go to the Movie (RKO); The Art Director (20CF); The Soundman (COL); This Theater and You (WB); History Brought to Life (PARA); Screen Actors (MGM); Movies are Adventure (U-I); The Costume Designer (RKO); The Screen Writer (20CF); Moments in Music (MGM); The Cinematographer (PARA); The Screen Director (WB).

The Educational Services Department is active also in cooperating with various national and international groups in developing the educational usefulness of motion pictures and particularly those which are produced by the member companies of the Motion Picture Association of America. These cooperative agencies include many cooperative projects with Government agencies, with professional organizations in the visual education field throughout the United States, and with such international organizations as UNESCO, the American Friends Service Committee, and the Departments of Education of various foreign countries.

Since its inception, the services of the board members of Teaching Film Custodians and each of the cooperating committees have been rendered on a volunteer basis.

The negatives from which the prints are made have been made available by the members of the Motion Picture Association without compensation.

Sets of stills have been assembled, suitably selected for school and library display, from over 100 photoplays which are based on standard works of literature and other similarly important productions. These stills are provided at $1.00 per set on request of librarians and teachers of photoplay appreciation classes. A list of pictures on which sets of stills are available may be had on request to the Educational Services Department, MPAA.

TECHNICAL SERVICES DEPARTMENT

THIS department of the Association was organized primarily for maintaining adequate fire and personnel safety in domestic film exchange operation. In recent years, its functions have been steadily expanding. They now include the supervision of logistical problems that occur in the distribution of films to the nation's theaters and providing technical services that pertain to the distribution, servicing, handling and storage of films, particularly of original negative material and film subjects archival in character.

The numerous projection processes and newly developed sound recording systems and their application, are now included in the department's widened technical scope.

The Association's safety program, developed along self-regulatory lines, has served ably to minimize losses by fire in domestic film distribution facilities. Evidence of the close adherence to the program by the Association's members is the steadily decreasing annual fire loss record, which now totals less than $180.00 per annum for the past 28 years.

In large measure, the striking success of this program is attributable to the thoroughness of the department's field work. This phase of its activities has as its goal the instilling of fire prevention consciousness among film exchange personnel, perfection in maintenance and housekeeping standards and the surveillance of regularly scheduled exchange inspections. Integrated with the field service is the continuing program of employee education in film methods required by new film basis, and practices developed toward absolute safety.

Other functions of the department include:

1. Maintaining close liaison with the national and international bodies interested in reducing fire waste. These groups consist of the National Fire Protection Association, Fire Protection Association of England, National Board of Fire Underwriters, National Fire Waste Council, National Safety Council, Bureau of Explosives, the National Association of Fire Chiefs and the various Federal departments similarly interested.

2. Providing technical assistance and encouragement toward the erection and maintenance of adequate facilities for the distribution and storage of motion picture films.

3. Extending cooperation to film groups outside of the United States for the purpose of acquainting them with the latest methods perfected for film servicing and handling efficiency and sharing the most recent thoughts for the protection of films held in storage.

Under the self-regulatory system, each of the nation's exchanges are inspected on a strictly adhered to monthly basis by a rotating group of area branch managers in each distribution center. These men are appointed for a period of six months service and are assisted in this work by the Conservation Department's director, who travels regularly to all of the various domestic exchange areas. During 1954, in excess of 4,560 exchange inspections were made of distribution facilities in this country.

Another phase of the protective activities of the Conservation Department is its continued survey of all non-theatrical institutions to obtain information on:

(a) Type of equipment used for the exhibition of motion pictures.
(b) Type and construction of projection booths.
(c) Experience and qualifications of projectionists.
(d) Whether or not the institution has the approval of a recognized public or state fire official.

Purpose of these investigations is to assure motion picture distributors that the service of films to these places of exhibition will be in conformity with local law and in accord with the industry's desire for maximum audience safety at all times.

A CODE TO GOVERN THE MAKING OF MOTION PICTURES

As Enforced by the Motion Picture Association

MOTION picture producers recognize the high trust and confidence which have been placed in them by the people of the world and which have made motion pictures a universal form of entertainment.

They recognize their responsibility to the public because of this trust and because entertainment and art are important influences in the life of a nation.

Hence, though regarding motion pictures primarily as entertainment without any explicit purpose of teaching or propaganda, they know that the motion picture within its own field of entertainment may be directly responsible for spiritual or moral progress, for higher types of social life, and for much correct thinking.

During the rapid transition from silent to talking pictures they realized the necessity and the opportunity of subscribing to a Code to govern the production of talking pictures and of reacknowledging this responsibility.

On their part, they ask from the public and from public leaders a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problems and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people.

General Principles

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience shall never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

Particular Applications

I. Crimes Against the Law

These shall never be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy with the crime as against law and justice or to inspire others with a desire for imitation.

1. Murder.
   a. The technique of murder must be presented in a way that will not inspire imitation.
   b. Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail.
   c. Revenge in modern times shall not be justified.
2. Methods of Crime should not be explicitly presented.
   a. Theft, robbery, safe-cracking, and dynamiting of trains, mines, buildings, etc., should not be detailed in method.
   b. Arson must be subject to the same safeguards.
   c. The use of firearms should be restricted to essentials.
3. The illegal drug traffic and drug addiction, must ever be present.

II. Sex

The sanctity of the institution of marriage and the home shall be upheld. Pictures shall not infer that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted or common thing.

1. Adultery and illicit sex, sometimes necessary plot material, must not be explicitly treated, or justified, or presented attractively.
2. Scenes of Passion.
   a. These should not be introduced except when they are definitely essential to the plot.
   b. Excessive and lustful kissing, lustful embraces, suggestive postures and gestures, are not to be shown.
   c. In general, passion should be treated in such a manner as not to stimulate the lower and baser emotions.
3. Seduction or Rape.
   a. These should never be more than suggested, and then only when essential for the plot. They must never be shown by explicit method.
   b. They are never the proper subject for comedy.
4. Sex perversion or any inference of it is forbidden.
5. White slavery shall not be treated.
6. Abortion, sex hygiene and veneral diseases are not proper subjects for theatrical motion pictures.
7. Scenes of actual child birth, in fact or in silhouette, are never to be presented.
8. Children's sex organs are never to be exposed.

III. Vulgarity

The treatment of low, disgusting, unpleasant, though not necessarily evil, subjects should be guided always by the dictates of good taste and a proper regard for the sensibilities of the audience.

IV. Obscenity

Obscenity in word, gesture, reference, song, joke, or by suggestion (even when likely to be understood only by part of the audience) is forbidden.

V. Profanity

Pointed profanity and every other profane or vulgar expression however used, are forbidden.

No approval by the Production Code Administration shall be given to the use of words and phrases in motion pictures included, but not limited to, the following:

"Bronx Cheer" (the sound)
Chippie
God, Lord, Jesus, Christ (unless used reverently)
Cripes
Fairy (in a vulgar sense)
Finger (the)
Fire-cries of Gawd
Goose (in a vulgar sense)
Hot (applied to a woman)
"In your hat"
Madam (relating to prostitution)
Nance
Nuts (except when meaning crazy)
Pansy
Razzberry (the sound)
S.O.B.
Son-of-a
Tart
Toilet gags
Whore

In the administration of Section V of the Production Code, the Production Code Administration may take cognizance of the fact that the following words and phrases are obviously offensive to the patrons of motion pictures in the United States and more particularly to the patrons of motion pictures in foreign countries: Chink, Dago, Frog, Greaser, Hunkie, Kike, Nigger, Spig, Wop, Yid.

It should also be noted that the words "hell" and "damn," if used without moderation, will be considered offensive by many members of the audience. Their use, therefore, should be governed by the discretion and the prudent advice of the Code Administration.

VI. Costume

1. Complete nudity is never permitted. This includes nudity in fact or in silhouette, or any licentious notice thereof by other characters in the picture.
2. Undressing scenes should be avoided and never used save where essential to the plot.

3. Indecent or undue exposure is forbidden.
4. Dancing costumes intended to permit undue exposure or indecent movements in the dance are forbidden.

VII. Dances

1. Dances suggesting or representing sexual actions or indecent passion are forbidden.
2. Dances which emphasize indecent movements are to be regarded as obscene.

VIII. Religion

1. No film or episode may throw ridicule on any religious faith.
2. Ministers of religion in their character as ministers of religion should not be used as comic characters or as villains.
3. Ceremonies of any definite religion should be carefully and respectfully handled.

IX. Locations

The treatment of bedrooms must be governed by good taste and delicacy.

X. National Feelings

1. The use of the Flag shall be consistently respectful.
2. The history, institutions, prominent people and citizenry of all nations shall be represented fairly.

XI. Titles

The following titles shall not be used:

1. Titles which are salacious, indecent, obscene, profane or vulgar.
2. Titles which suggest or are currently associated in the public mind with material, characters, or occupations unsuitable for the screen.
3. Titles which are otherwise objectionable.

XII. Special Subjects

The following subjects must be treated within the careful limits of good taste:

1. Actual hangings or electrocutions as legal punishments for crime.
2. Third degree methods.
3. Brutality and possible gruesomeness.
4. The sale of women, or a woman selling her virtue.
5. Surgical operations.
6. Miscegenation.
7. Liquor and drinking.

Special Regulations on Crime in Motion Pictures

Resolved (Dec. 20, 1938), that the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., hereby ratifies, approves and confirms the interpretations of the Production Code, the practices thereunder, and the resolutions indicating and confirming such interpretations heretofore adopted by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., all effectuating regulations relative to the treatment of crime in motion pictures as follows:

1. Details of crime must never be shown and care should be exercised at all times in discussing such details.

2. Action suggestive of wholesale slaughter of human beings, either by criminals, in conflict with police, or as between warring factions of criminals, or in public disorder of any kind, will not be allowed.

3. There must be no suggestion, at any time, of excessive brutality.

4. Because of the increase in the number of films in which murder is frequently committed, action showing the taking of human life, even in the mystery stories, is to be cut to a minimum. These frequent presentations of murder tend to lessen regard for the sacredness of life.

5. Suicide, as a solution of problems occurring in the development of screen drama, is to be discouraged as morally questionable and as bad theater—unless absolutely necessary for the development of the plot. It should never be justified or glorified or used to defeat the due processes of law.

6. There must be no display, at any time, of machine guns, sub-machine guns or other weapons generally classified as illegal weapons in the hands of gangsters, or other criminals, and there are to be no off-stage sounds of the repercussion of these guns.

7. There must be no new, unique or trick methods shown for concealing guns.

8. The flaunting of weapons by gangsters, or other criminals, will not be allowed.

9. All discussions and dialogue on the part of gangsters, regarding guns should be cut to the minimum.

10. There must be no scenes, at any time, showing law-enforcing officers dying at the hands of criminals unless such scenes are absolutely necessary to the development of the plot. This includes private detectives and guards for banks, motor trucks, etc.

11. With special reference to the crime of kidnapping—or illegal abduction—such stories are acceptable under the Code only when (a) the kidnapping or abduction is not the main theme of the story; (b) the person kidnapped is not a child; (c) there are no details of the crime of kidnapping; (d) no profit accrues to the abductors or kidnappers; and (e) where the kidnappers are punished.

It is understood and agreed that the word kidnapping as used in paragraph (11) of these Regulations is intended to mean abduction, or illegal detention, in modern times, by criminals for ransom.

12. Pictures dealing with criminal activities in which minors participate, or to which minors are related, shall not be approved if they incite demoralizing imitation on the part of youth.

13. No picture shall be approved dealing with the life of a notorious criminal of current or recent times which uses the name, nickname, or alias of such notorious criminal in the film, nor shall a picture be approved if based upon the life of such a notorious criminal unless the character shown in the film be punished for crimes shown in the film as committed by him.

Special Resolution on Costumes

RESOLVED (Oct. 25, 1939), that the provisions of Paragraphs 1, 3 and 4 of Sub-Division VI, of the Production Code, in their application to costumes, nudity, indecent or undue exposure, and dancing costumes, shall not be interpreted to exclude authentically photographed scenes photographed in a foreign land of natives of such foreign lands showing native life, if such scenes are a necessary and integral part of a modern picture depicting exclusively such land and native life, provided that no such scenes shall be intrinsically objectionable nor made a part of any motion picture produced in any studio; and provided further that no emphasis shall be made in any scenes of the customs or garb of such natives or in the exploitation thereof.

Special Resolution On Cruelty to Animals

RESOLVED (Dec. 27, 1940), by the Board of Directors of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., that

(1) Hereafter, in the production of motion pictures there shall be no use by the members of the Association of the contrivance or apparatus in connection with animals which is known as the "running W," nor shall any picture submitted to the Production Code Administration be approved if reasonable grounds exist for believing that use of any similar device by the producer of such picture resulted in apparent cruelty to animals; and

(2) Hereafter, in the production of motion pictures by the members of the Association, such members shall, as to any picture involving the use of animals, invite on the lot during such shooting and consult with the authorized representative of the American Humane Association; and

(3) Steps shall be taken immediately by the members of the Association and by the Production Code Administration to require compliance with these resolutions, which shall bear the same relationship to the sections of the Production Code quoted herein as the Association's special regulations re: Crime in Motion Pictures bear to the sections of the Production Code dealing therewith; and it is FURTHER RESOLVED, that the resolutions of February 19, 1925 and all other resolutions of this Board establishing its policy to prevent all cruelty to animals in the production of motion pictures and reflecting its determination to prevent any such cruelty, be and the same hereby in all respects reaffirmed.

Reasons Supporting Preamble of Code

1. Theatrical motion pictures, that is, pictures intended for the theater as distinct from pictures intended for churches, schools, lecture halls, educational movements, social reform movements, etc., are primarily to be regarded as ENTERTAINMENT.

Mankind has always recognized the importance of entertainment and its value in rebuilding the bodies and souls of human beings.

But it has always recognized that entertainment can be of a character either HELPFUL or HARMFUL to the human race, and in consequence has clearly distinguished between:

a. Entertainment which tends to improve the race, or at least to re-create and rebuild human beings exhausted with the realities of life; and

b. Entertainment which tends to degrade human beings, or to lower their standards of life and living.

Hence the MORAL IMPORTANCE of entertainment is something which has been universally recognized. It enters intimately into the lives of men and women and affects them closely; it occupies their minds and affections during leisure hours; and ultimately touches the whole of their lives. A man may be judged by his standard of entertainment as easily as by the standard of his work.

So correct entertainment raises the whole standard of a nation.

Wrong entertainment lowers the whole living conditions and moral ideas of a race.

Note, for example, the healthy reactions to healthful sports, like baseball, golf; the unhealthy reactions to sports like cockfighting, bull-fighting, bear baiting, etc.

Note, too, the effect of ancient nations of gladiatorial combats, the obscene plays of Roman times, etc.

2. Motion pictures are very important as ART.

Though a new art, possibly a combination art, it has the same object as the other arts, the presentation of human thought, emotion, and experience, in terms of an appeal to the soul through the senses.

Here, as in entertainment,

Arts enters intimately into the lives of human beings.

Art can be morally good, lifting men to higher levels. This has been done through good music, great painting, authentic fiction, poetry, drama.

Art can be morally evil in its effects. This is the case clearly enough with unclean art, indecent books, suggestive drama. The effect on the lives of men and women is obvious.

Note: It has often been argued that art in itself is unmoral, neither good nor bad. This is perhaps true of the THING which is music, painting, poetry, etc. But the thing is the PRODUCT of some person's mind and the intention of that mind was either good or bad morally when it produced the thing. Besides the thing it has its EFFECT upon those who come into contact with it. In both these ways, that is, as a product of a mind and as the cause of definite effects, it has a deep moral significance and an unmistakable moral quality.

Hence: The motion pictures, which are the most popular of modern arts for the masses, have their moral quality from the intention of the minds which produce them and from their effects on the moral lives and reactions of their audiences. This gives them a most important morality.

1. They reproduce the morality of the men who use the pictures as a medium for the expression of their ideas and ideals.
2. They affect the moral standards of those who, through the screen, take in these ideas and ideals.

In the case of the motion pictures, this effect may be particularly emphasized because no art has so quick and so widespread an appeal to the masses. It has become in an incredibly short period the art of the multitudes.

III. The motion picture, because of its importance as entertainment and because of the trust placed in it by the peoples of the world, has special MORAL OBLIGATIONS:

A. Most arts appeal to the mature. This art appeals at once to every class, mature, immature, developed, undeveloped, law abiding, criminal. Music has its grades for different classes; so has literature and drama. This art of the motion picture, combining as it does the two fundamental appeals of looking at a picture and listening to a story at once reaches every class of society.

B. By reason of the mobility of a film and the ease of picture distribution, and because of the possibility of duplicating positives in large quantities, this art reaches places unpenetrated by other forms of art.

C. Because of these two facts, it is difficult to produce films intended for only certain classes of people. The exhibitors' theaters are built for the masses, for the cultivated and the rude, the mature and the immature, the self-respecting and the criminal. Films, unlike books and music, can with difficulty be confined to certain selected groups.

D. The latitude given to film material cannot, in consequence, be as wide as the latitude given to book material. In addition:

   a. A book describes; a film vividly presents. One presents on a cold page; the other by apparently living people.
   b. A book reaches the mind through words merely; a film reaches the eyes and ears through the reproduction of actual events.
   c. The reaction of a reader to a book depends largely on the keenness of the reader's imagination; the reaction to a film depends on the vividness of presentation.

   Hence many things which might be described or suggested in a book could not possibly be presented in a film.

E. This is also true when comparing the film with the newspaper.

   a. Newspapers present by description, films by actual presentation.
   b. Newspapers are after the fact and present things as having taken place; the film gives the events in the process of enactment and with the apparent reality of life.

F. Everything possible in a play is not possible in a film.

   a. Because of the larger audience of the film, and its consequential mixed character. Psychologically, the larger the audience, the lower the moral mass resistance to suggestion.
   b. Because through light, enlargement of character, presentation, scenic emphasis, etc., the screen story is brought closer to the audience than the play.
   c. The enthusiasm for and interest in the film actors and actresses, developed beyond anything of the sort in history, makes the audience largely sympathetic toward the characters they portray and the stories in which they figure. Hence the audience is more ready to confuse actor and actress and the characters they portray, and it is most receptive of the emotions and ideals presented by their favorite stars.

G. Small communities, remote from sophistication and from the hardening process which often takes place in the ethical and moral standards of groups in larger cities, are easily and readily reached by any sort of film.

H. The grandeur of mass settings, large action, spectacular features, etc., affects and arouses more intensely the emotional side of the audience.

In general, the mobility, popularity, accessibility, emotional appeal, vividness, straightforward presentation of fact in the film make for more intimate contact with a larger audience and for greater emotional appeal.

Hence the larger moral responsibilities of the motion pictures.

Reasons Underlying the General Principles

I. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience should never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin. -

This is done:

(1) When evil is made to appear attractive or alluring, and good is made to appear unattractive.

(2) When the sympathy of the audience is thrown on the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil, sin. The same thing is true of a film that would throw sympathy against goodness, honor, innocence, purity or honesty.

NOTE: Sympathy with a person who sins is not the same as sympathy with the sin or crime of which he is guilty. We may feel sorry for the plight of the murderer or even understand the circumstances which led him to his crime. We may not feel sympathy with the wrong which he has done.

The presentation of evil is often essential for art or fiction or drama.

This in itself is not wrong provided:

a. That evil is not presented alluringly. Even if later in the film the evil is condemned or punished, it must not be allowed to appear so attractive that the audience's emotions are drawn to desire to approve so strongly that later the condemnation is forgotten and only the apparent joy of the sin remembered.

b. That throughout, the audience feels sure that evil is wrong and good is right.

II. Correct standards of life shall, as far as possible, be presented.

A wide knowledge of life and living is made possible through the film. When right standards are consistently presented, the motion picture exercises the most powerful influences. It builds character, develops right ideals, inculcates correct principles, and all this in the attractive story form.

If motion pictures consistently hold up for admiration high types of characters and present stories that will affect lives for the better, they can become the most powerful natural force for the improvement of mankind.

III. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

By natural law is understood the law which is written in the hearts of all mankind, the great underlying principles of right and justice dictated by conscience.

By human law is understood the law written by civilized nations.

1. The presentation of crimes against the law is often necessary for the carrying out of the plot. But the presentation must not throw sympathy with the crime as against the law nor with the criminal as against those who punish him.
2. The courts of the land should not be presented as unjust. This does not mean that a single court may not be represented as unjust, much less that a single court official must not be presented this way. But the court system of the country must not suffer as a result of this presentation.

Reasons Underlying Particular Applications

I. Sin and evil enter into the story of human beings and hence in themselves are valid dramatic material.

II. In the use of this material, it must be distinguished between sins which repel by its very nature, and sins which often attract.

a. In the first class come murder, most theft, many legal crimes, lying, hypocrisy, cruelty, etc.

b. In the second class come sex sins, sins and crimes of apparent heroism, such as banditry, daring thefts, leadership in evil, organized crime, revenge, etc.

The first class needs far less care in treatment, as sins and crimes of this class are naturally unattractive. The audience instinctively condemns all such and is repelled.

Hence the important objective must be to avoid the hardening of the audience, especially of those who are young and impressionable, to the thought and fact of crime. People can become accustomed even to murder, cruelty, brutality and repellent crimes, if these are sufficiently repeated.

The second class needs great care in handling, as the response of human nature to their appeal is obvious. This is treated more fully below.

III. A careful distinction can be made between films intended for general distribution, and films intended for use in theaters restricted to a limited audience. Themes and plots quite appropriate for the latter would be altogether out of place and dangerous in the former.

NOTE: The practice of using a general theater and limiting its patronage during the showing of a certain film to "Adults Only" is not competely satisfactory and is only partially effective.

However, maturer minds may easily understand and accept without harm subject matter in plots which do younger people positive harm.

Hence: If there should be created a special type of theater, catering exclusively to an adult audience, for plays of this character (plays with problem themes, difficult discussions and maturer treatment) it would seem to afford an outlet, which does not now exist, for pictures unsuitable for general distribution but permissible for exhibitions to a restricted audience.

I. CRIMES AGAINST THE LAW

The treatment of crimes against the law must not:

1. Teach methods of crime.
2. Inspire potential criminals with a desire for imitation.
3. Make criminals seem heroic and justified.

Revenge in modern times shall not be justified. In lands and ages of less developed civilization and moral principles, revenge may sometimes be presented. This would be the case especially in places where no law exists to cover the crime because of which revenge is committed.

Because of its evil consequences, the drug traffic should not be presented in any form. The existence of the trade should not be brought to the attention of audiences.

II. SEX

Out of regard for the sanctity of marriage and the home, the triangle, that is, the love of a third party for one already married, needs careful handling. The treatment should not throw sympathy against marriage as an institution.

Scenes of passion must be treated with an honest acknowledgment of human nature and its normal reactions. Many scenes cannot be presented without arousing dangerous emotions on the part of the immature, the young or the criminal classes.

Even within the limits of pure love, certain facts have been universally regarded by lawmakers as outside the limits of safe presentation.

In the case of impure love, the love which society has always regarded as wrong and which has been banned by divine law, the following are important:

1. Impure love must not be presented as attractive and beautiful.
2. It must not be the subject of comedy or farce or treated as material for laughter.
3. It must not be presented in such a way as to arouse passion or morbid curiosity on the part of the audience.
4. It must not be made to seem right and permissible.
5. In general, it must not be detailed in method and manner.

III. Vulgarity; IV. Obscenity; V. Profanity, hardly need further explanation than is contained in the CODE.

VI. COSTUMES

General principles:

1. The effect of nudity or semi-nudity upon the normal man or woman, and much more upon the young and upon immature persons, has been honestly recognized by all lawmakers and moralists.
2. Hence the fact that the nude or semi-nude body may be beautiful does not make its use in the films moral. For, in addition to its beauty, the effect of the nude or semi-nude body on the normal individual must be taken into consideration.
3. Nudity or semi-nudity used simply to put a "punch" into a picture comes under the head of immoral actions. It is immoral in its effect on the average audience.
4. Nudity can never be permitted as being necessary for the plot. Semi-nudity must not result in undue or indecent exposures.
5. Transparent or translucent materials and silhouette are frequently more suggestive than actual exposure.

VII. DANCES

Dancing in general is recognized as an art and as a beautiful form of expressing human emotions.

But dances which suggest or represent sexual actions, whether performed solo or with two or more, dances intended to excite the emotional reaction of an audience, dances with movement of the breasts, excessive body movements while the feet are stationary, violate decency and are wrong.

VIII. RELIGION

The reason why ministers of religion may not be comic characters or villains is simply because the attitude taken towards them may easily become the attitude taken toward religion in general. Religion is lowered in the minds of the audience because of the lowering of the audience's respect for a minister.

IX. LOCATIONS

Certain places are so closely and thoroughly associated with sexual life or with sexual sin that their use must be carefully limited.

X. NATIONAL FEELINGS

The just rights, history, and feelings of any nation are entitled to most careful consideration and respectful treatment.

XI. TITLES

As the title of a picture is the brand on that particular type of goods, it must conform to the ethical practices of all such honest business.

XII. SPECIAL SUBJECTS

Such subjects are occasionally necessary for the plot. Their treatment must never offend good taste nor injure the sensibilities of an audience.

The use of liquor should never be excessively presented. In scenes from American life, the necessities of plot and proper characterization alone justify its use. And in this case, it should be shown with moderation.

Resolutions for Uniform Interpretation as Amended June 13, 1934

1. When requested by production managers, the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, shall secure any facts, information or suggestions concerning the probable reception of stories or the manner in which in its opinion they may best be treated.

2. That each production manager shall submit in confidence a copy of each or any script to the Production Code Administration of the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated (and of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., California). The Production Code Administration will give the production manager for his guidance such confidential advice and suggestions as experience, research, and information indicate, designating wherein in its judgment the script departs from the provisions of the Code, or wherein from experience or knowledge it is believed that exception will be taken to the story or treatment.

3. Each production manager of a company belonging to the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, and any producer proposing to distribute and/or distributing his pictures through the facilities of any member of the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, shall submit to such Production Code Administration every picture he produces before the negative goes to the laboratory for printing. Said Production Code Administration, having seen the picture, shall inform the production manager in writing whether in its opinion the picture conforms or does not conform to the Code, stating specifically wherein either by theme, treatment or incident, the picture violates the provisions of the Code. In such latter event, the picture shall not be released until the changes indicated by the Production Code Administration have been made; provided, however, that the production manager may appeal from such opinion of said Production Code Administration, so indicated in writing, to the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, whose finding shall be final, and such production manager and company shall be governed accordingly.

AN ADVERTISING CODE FOR MOTION PICTURES

Administered by the Advertising Code Administration With the Advice and Cooperation of the Advertising Advisory Council of the MPAA

PREAMBLE: The purpose of the Advertising Code is to apply to motion picture advertising, publicity and exploitation, within their range, the high principles which the Production Code applies to the content of motion pictures.

The provisions of the Advertising Code shall apply to pressbooks, newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising, publicity material, trailers, posters, lobby displays and all other outdoor displays, novelty distribution, radio copy and every form of motion picture exploitation.

We urge all motion picture producers, distributors and exhibitors, and their advertising agents, whether affiliated with the undersigned or not, to adhere to these principles; and, for ourselves, we pledge compliance with these principles without reservation.

THE CODE

1. We subscribe to a code of ethics based upon truth, honesty and integrity. All motion picture advertising shall
    (a) Conform to fact.
    (b) Scrupulously avoid all misrepresentation.
2. Good taste shall be the guiding rule of motion picture advertising.
3. Illustrations and text in advertising shall faithfully represent the pictures themselves.
4. No false or misleading statements shall be used directly, or implied by type arrangements or by distorted quotations.
5. No text or illustration shall ridicule or tend to ridicule any race, religion or religious faith; no illustration of a character in clerical garb shall be shown in any but a respectful manner.
6. The history, institutions and nationals of all countries shall be represented with fairness.
7. Profanity and vulgarity shall be avoided.
8. Pictorial and copy treatment of officers of the law shall not be of such a nature as to undermine their authority.
9. Specific details of crime, inciting imitation, shall not be used.
10. Motion picture advertisers shall be guided by the provision of the Production Code that the use of liquor in American life shall be restricted to the necessities of characterization and plot.
11. Nudity with meretricious purpose and salacious postures shall not be used; and clothed figures shall not be represented in such manner as to be offensive or contrary to good taste or morals.

12. Court actions relating to censoring of pictures, or other censorship disputes, are not to be capitalized in advertising or publicity.
13. Titles of source materials or occupations or names of characters on which motion pictures may be based should not be exploited in advertising or upon the screen if such titles or names are in conflict with the provisions of the Production Code affecting titles.
14. No text or illustration shall be used which capitalizes, directly or by implication, upon misconduct of a person connected with a motion picture thus advertised.

REGULATIONS FOR ADMINISTRATION

(The following regulations were adopted by the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., April 22, 1948, and amended June 21, 1950.)

1. These regulations are applicable to all members of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "Association"), subsidiaries of a member producing or distributing motion pictures, and to all producers and distributors of motion pictures with respect to each picture for which the Association has granted its Certificate of Approval, pursuant to an application therefor.

2. The term "advertising" as used herein shall be deemed to mean all forms of motion picture advertising and exploitation, and ideas therefor, including, among other things, but without limitation thereto, the following: press books; still photographs; newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising; publicity copy and art intended for use in press books or otherwise intended for general distribution in printed form or for theater use; trailers; posters, lobby displays and other outdoor displays; advertising accessories, including heralds, throwaways, etc.; novelties; copy for exploitation tie-ups; radio and television copy.

The term "Company" as used herein shall be deemed to mean any person, firm or corporation.

3. All advertising shall be submitted to the Advertising Code Administration of the Association for approval before use, and shall not be used in any way until so submitted and approved as hereinafter set forth. All advertising shall be submitted in duplicate with the exception of press books, which shall be submitted in triplicate.

4. The Advertising Code Administration shall proceed as promptly as it finds feasible to approve or disapprove the advertising submitted on the basis of whether it complies with the Advertising Code.

The Advertising Code Administration shall stamp its approval on one copy of all advertising approved and return such stamped copy to the company submitting the same. If the Advertising Code Administration disapproves of any advertising, there shall be stamped the word "Disapproved" on one copy thereof, which shall be returned to the company submitting the same; or, if the Advertising Code Administration so desires, it may return the same with suggestions for such changes or corrections in the advertising as will cause it to be approved.

5. After advertising (as defined in Section 2 above) for a motion picture shall have been approved by the Advertising Code Administration, if circumstances arise, either before or after the picture's release, which in the judgment of the Administrator seem to require the withdrawal of all, or any portion of such previously approved advertising, then, after consultation with the Advertising Advisory Council, he shall immediately file a written report with the President and Secretary of the Association (a) setting forth the situation existing at the time such prior approval was granted for such advertising, (b) reciting the intervening circumstances with resultant changes in the situation, (c) listing the reasons why in the opinion of the Administrator all or a designated portion of the advertising previously approved should be withdrawn and (d) certifying that if such advertising were then being presented to him for the first time, it would not be approved by him under the Advertising Code for stated reasons.

If the President of the Association (or a Vice-President of the Association in the absence of the President), upon receipt of such report from the Advertising Code Administration, is of the opinion that the situation presented is sufficiently serious to justify consideration by the Board of Directors, the Secretary of the Association shall be instructed to call immediately an emergency meeting of the Board, at which meeting the Board shall sit as a Board of Appeal with adequate opportunity for the producer and/or distributor of the motion picture to appear in person or through a duly authorized representative and present reasons orally or in writing, or both, as to why the prior approval of the advertising should be affirmed, and with adequate opportunity for the Administrator of the Advertising Code to appear and present reasons, either orally or in writing, or both, as to why in his judgment all or a designated portion of such previously approved advertising should be withdrawn.

Thereafter, the Board, meeting in executive session with the producer and/or distributor of the picture not voting, shall determine by vote of a majority of the Directors present and voting, whether all or any portion of the previously approved advertising shall be withheld from use and/or withdrawn, and such action of the Board of Directors shall be final and binding upon the producer and/or distributor of said film.

When any previously approved advertising for a motion picture is withdrawn pursuant to action of the Board hereunder, the company withdrawing same shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board. The amount of such reimbursement shall be prorated among all members of the Association including the company affected on the same basis as dues to the Association are currently paid.

If neither the producer nor the distributor of said film is a member of the Association, then the non-member withdrawing such advertising shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising by the members of the Association to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board.

6. Appeals. Any company whose advertising has been disapproved may appeal from the decision of the Advertising Code Administration, as follows:

Within 10 days after its advertising has been disapproved it shall serve notice of such appeal in writing on the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and on the Secretary of the Association. Said notice of appeal shall set forth the grounds upon which the appeal is taken. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of such notice by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and the Secretary of the Association, the President or, in the event of his absence from the country or his inability to act, a board consisting of three members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Association appointed by him, shall hold a hearing to pass upon the appeal. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the company and the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had at the hearing and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the company and the Advertising Code Administration. The President or said board, as the case may be, may admit such evidence as is deemed relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The President, or said board, as the case may be, shall decide the appeal as expeditiously as possible and shall notify the company and the Director of the Advertising Code Administration in writing of the decision. Such decision shall be final.

A company appealing from a decision of the Advertising Code Administration under Section 14 of the Advertising Code shall have the right, by written notice to the Secretary of the Association, to appeal directly to the Board of Directors of the Association, whose decision shall be final. The provisions relating to evidence, argument and written memoranda or briefs, set forth in these Regulations, shall apply to such appeals.

7. Any company to which these regulations are applicable, which publishes, or makes available for sale or lease, or which in any way uses advertising without prior approval as hereinabove provided, may be brought up on charges before the Board of Directors by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration, or by any of the following officers of the Association, viz.: the President, a Vice-President, the Secretary or the Treasurer. The company shall be entitled to receive a written statement of the charges and to a hearing before the Board of Directors. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of said statement of charges by the company, the Board of Directors of the Association shall meet in a Special Meeting to hear and pass upon such charges. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the company and by the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the company and by the Advertising Code Administration. The Board of Directors may admit such evidence as it deems relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The Board of Directors, by a majority vote of those present, shall decide the matter as expeditiously as possible.

If the Board of Directors finds that the company has published, or made available for sale or lease or in any way used advertising without prior approval as hereinabove set forth, the Board may take one or more of the following actions:

a) Direct the Production Code Administration to void and revoke the Certificate of Approval granted by the Association for the picture so advertised and require the removal of the Association's seal from all prints of said picture, and the Production Code Administration shall thereupon do so;

b) Require the company, if a member of the Association, to pay to the Association as and for liquidated damages, not more than $100 for each publication, lease, sale or use of an unapproved item of advertising which has been published, made available for lease or sale or used, provided, however, that the total sum assessed for advertising relative to one motion picture may not exceed the sum of $25,000. The amount so assessed and collected shall be used by the Association for expenses incurred in the administration of the Advertising Code. It is recognized that any violation of the Advertising Code will disrupt the stability of the industry and cause serious damage to the Association and its members which cannot be definitively computed.

The decision of the Board of Directors shall be final.

8. Each company shall assume responsibility for seeing that all its employees and agents comply with these regulations.

OPTIMISM FOR THE FUTURE

By ROBERT W. COYNE
Co-chaiman of Governing Committee of Council of Motion Picture Organizations, Inc.

REGARDLESS of the many grave problems which confront the industry at this time, we in COMPO take an optimistic view of the future.

We do so if for no other reason than that the tremendous increase forecast in the nation's population, particularly in the teen-age and adult groups, coupled with indications of a sustained period of general prosperity, provide the potentials for the development of a vast army of new movie-goers.

COYNE

Within the next decade, the Bureau of Census predicts our population will approach the 200 million mark. During this period, millions of babies born after the close of World War II will reach the teen-age brackets among which we have found our largest audiences. Furthermore, the recent trend toward higher wages and shorter hours means people will have more money to spend and more time in which to spend it.

Our problem is to create the movie-going habit in this new generation and to reawaken the interest of those of the present generation who have been diverted, temporarily, I believe, to other forms of entertainment. It can be done if all elements of the industry will pool their creative resources in finding a solution.

First of all, however, we must strengthen our competitive position by seeking removal of tax and other inequalities which place us at a disadvantage with other entertainment enterprises. Our immediate concern, therefore, is the total elimination of the Federal admission tax on motion picture admissions. Despite the President's recommendation that there be no further reduction in excise taxes, we are going ahead with our campaign for repeal of this unjust and discriminatory levy under the authority granted us at the annual meeting of COMPO's board of directors.

While we have the greatest respect for the President's judgment, and realize that he is confronted with many grave problems, we cannot believe his position with respect to excise taxes is so inflexible that, if we prove our need, it will be impossible to obtain relief. Furthermore, we believe any loss in motion picture admission taxes would be considerably offset by an increase in other taxes arising from more profitable theater operations.

The National Retail Drygoods Federation recently went on record for elimination of all excise taxes originally imposed as wartime emergency levies, and the Chicago Federation of Labor, with 500,000 members, voted for the complete repeal of all admission taxes.

Irrespective of whether Congress grants our plea for complete elimination, we cannot afford to sit back and rest on the gains won from the last Congress. We must keep our state and regional tax committees intact in order to resist the increasing pressure for state and local admission taxes. We need only recall the suddenness with which New York City, faced with a grave budgetary problem, imposed a five per cent local amusement tax within a few weeks after the President had signed the 1955 Excise Tax bill. Only recently, the Commissions of the District of Columbia proposed a local amusement tax of two per cent on theater admissions in the nation's capital which is under consideration by Congress, and which we are opposing as this is being written.

Many of our other municipalities and states are under heavy pressure to provide additional funds for educational, highway and other projects, and excise taxes offer a tempting field for additional revenue. While we are confident that we can obtain further Federal relief if Congress is given an unrestricted opportunity to vote for repeal on the floor of the House, it would gain us little if such taxes were immediately reimposed at the state or local levels.

We, therefore, feel compelled to conduct a continuous tax research study so that we may provide the ammunition wherever and whenever it is needed. Obviously, COMPO has neither the resources nor the staff to participate actively in all local situations but we are prepared to offer all available statistical material to local committees and on request to furnish advice on campaign panning and strategy. Effective opposition must be organized before taxation legislation reaches the enactment stage.

Meanwhile, we are going ahead with plans for another Audience Awards campaign this year. COMPO is also on the alert for other suggestions and ideas to promote the movie habit and improve our relations with the press and the public. Several such suggestions have been received in recent months and are being given careful study by our staff or to committees assigned to look into them. Our Press Relations Committee, for instance, is studying the suggestion made by Leonard Goldenson at our annual meeting that a campagin be directed to increase the interest of the housewives of America in regular movie attendance. Goldenson pointed out that the woman at home is usually the motivating influence in bringing a family to the movies where she, too, can find rest and relaxation from the cares of the day which is often denied her at home. We are hopeful that this committee, composed of top advertising, promotion and publicity men, can come up with a practical plan to attract increased family attendance.

The past year has been one of accomplishment. Our major project was the Audience Awards which was universally acclaimed as an outstanding success. More than 6,000 theaters participated and more than 15 million votes were cast. Exhibitors replying to a questionnaire sent out by COMPO at the close of the contest voted 13 to one that they wished it continued as an annual feature. The annual COMPO meeting thereupon voted to conduct another Audience Awards campaign this year.

Much of the success of the initial Audience Awards campaign was due to the active and energetic leadership of Elmer C. Rhoden, national chairman. The campaign received unprecedented publicity in the newspapers of the nation and was the subject of widespread editorial and columnists' comment. As in all experimental projects, some refinements may be necessary in poll procedures but the promotion has definitely established itself as a national news and attention-getting feature. I am hopeful that we can enlist a minimum of 10,000 theaters in this year's Awards and poll a total vote in excess of 25 million.

An analysis of the vote shows that the success of the campaign at the local level was commensurate with the effort put into it by local exhibitors and other industry representatives. It proved conclusively that aggressive and intelligent showmanship would bring patrons into the theaters just as a well organized political campaign brings voters to the polls on Election Day.

Our relations with the press have continued to improve and I believe they are now better than at any time in recent years. I attribute this, in large measure, to our use of the advertising columns of the Editor and Publisher as a form for explaining our problems and pointing out the close economic and other relationships between our respective mediums. We have decided to continue these ads.

However, I'd like to emphasize again the importance of close personal relationships between industry representatives and exhibitors at the local level. Editors are faced with a multiplicity of problems but they are never too preoccupied to listen to legitimate complaints from local business men nor too hard-boiled not to appreciate an expression of thanks for constructive articles or favors extended.

With the newspapers of the country faced with a serious shortage of newsprint, editors will be under considerable pressure this year to eliminate or cut down so-called feature and special sections. It is therefore important that news of our industry be given the importance it deserves. We hope our regional and local press relations committee, which are autonomous in character, will continue to keep close watch of industry news in the local press, and to make every effort to see that it is accorded fair and impartial treatment.

In conclusion may I say that COMPO is not the mouthpiece of a single individual or group. Its primary interest is to strengthen all elements within the industry and to endeavor to get them to work harmoniously for the common good. Production, distribution and exhibition are dependent one upon the other. Over the long run they must rise or fall together. COMPO is dedicated to the task of improving and strengthening this relationship because only through a united and strong industry may we hope to enjoy prosperity in the years to come.

1956 WILL BE A BETTER YEAR!

By ELLIS ARNALL

President, Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers

THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY is almost unique in its delight in self-examination and self-rebuke. This means that producers, directors, writers, actors, cameramen, film editors, musicians, technical men—of a score of different crafts—must engage at every year's end in a re-examination of the past and appraisal of the future.

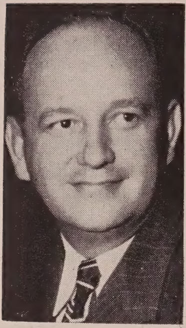
Always the past dismays everyone among this assortment of artists. Always the future is a beckoning road, always leading upward, always bordered by a profusion of blossoms revealed in gorgeous color, always leading to a promise of fulfillment discernibly more satisfactory than the failures of yesterday.



ARNALL

So, in 1956 there will be none of the occasional blunders of 1955. There will not be a single picture made with a plot as stale as three-day bakery rolls. Although boy will meet girl and girl will get boy, the writer will so successfully have evoked the Muse that this always extraordinary but frequently repeated story will have the freshness of Spring nights when the moon is a silver crescent, when the breeze is a distillation of a million, million heady perfumes, when the always new old phrases possess a sorcery that is as potent as it is immutable.

In 1956, no player will falter in lines, and, since every technician will have done the billion-and-one things perfectly from mimeographing the script to decorating the set, to lighting it, there will be no retakes. That will mean a saving of millions upon millions of feet of raw film, in case the business side of the industry should happen to read this prophesy of "The Year of Perfection, 1956." Of course, it will not be that way at all, and it will not be that way at all for a great many years to come, and I hope for a great many centuries to come. For perfection is a rather deadly thing, like too much garlic in a salad.

But 1956 will be a good year for the motion picture industry. In 1954, the technicians got rather ahead of the dreammakers. They presented the industry with a wealth of resources not immediately digestible. In consequence, some portions of the dreammaker's art had to be learned over again through the lamentable method of trial and error. Some mistakes were made. There were productions in color that should have been in black and white. There were scripts that called for intimacy of the conventional small screen that were shot as wide screen productions and thereby failed to do more than convince patrons of the theaters that banality is only accented and emphasized by the use of seven sound tracks.

But there were successes, too. For one thing, it has been many a year since the motion picture industry demonstrated its awareness of scenic background so capably and enthusiastically, or made that background an integrated portion of the story that it was to tell, or the dream to which it was to give reality. Some of the pictures with fresh and delightful backdrops brought far reaches of other parts of the world to Americans; but, perhaps even more important America itself was rediscovered with authenticity that has been lacking for more than 20 years. I think this is important; I think it is important that the screen is dealing with America with a certain unaffectedness, as if the dreammakers were telling real dreams remembered the next morning and not made up dreams distilled from coffee and benzedrine.

Forgetting the occasional failures of 1955, forgetting the little failures discernible only to the perfectionist of the industry, 1955 was a year of remarkable progress. It was a year that more people went to the motion picture theaters. It was a year in which the industry felt more confidence in itself.

Nineteen Hundred Fifty-six will be even a better year. It will be a year in which the motion picture industry will produce a better product that will bring more people to fill the seats of the theaters.

The role of the independent producer, which grew in importance last year will be even greater. The approach of the perfectionist is called for under the present conditions. Many of the great successes last year came from independents, because the type picture being made today demands imagination and meticulous preparation before the first setup. There will be more successes than ever from independent producers in 1956, and probably more experimentation.

A certainty that the sun will come up tomorrow morning does not imply that there will be no rain or smog, no snow or sleet. Optimism over 1956 does not suggest that the industry does not have many problems. It must garner good stories. It must convert them into good scripts, it must make them into good pictures. It must distribute them to thousands of theaters. It cannot afford a single mistake along all that route if it is to fill the seats and please the audience that wishes to see hundreds of millions of individual dreams given substance.

But, looking backward, those are the same problems that the industry has been called upon to solve each year since the first film flickered in a converted store building. It is a group of problems that the industry has lived with for many years and yet has achieved and maintained the best in entertainment for the most people.

THE ACADEMY LOOKS BOTH WAYS

By GEORGE SEATON

President, Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences

LOOKING BACK is not a custom at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences; but as we proceed toward the 28th annual Academy Awards, we find it appropriate to glance in the rear-vision mirror for a quick look at the milestones marking the accomplishments of 1955.

This year's awards ceremonies played to an estimated TV-radio audience of more than 50 million. Some estimates, including overseas broadcasts, run as high as 90 million.

SEATON

For the first time, the nominations were simulcast. The show was hailed as the greatest Saturday night audience ever attained by an NBC spectacular and was credited with bringing untold benefits to the motion picture industry. It won recognition as a wholly new special event from Hollywood, second only to the traditional Academy Awards.

Innovations and unprecedented public interest made the 27th Academy Awards a record-breaker in every respect. And for 1956, the one and only Academy Awards, will provide a new group of Oscars, each of which will become the most treasured possession of its winner.

Headlining the list of additional Academy activities is the progress on the reclamation of paper-film prints from the Library of Congress where they have been deteriorating since they were first filed there for purposes of copyright.

This joint project is financed by the Academy. The tedious job of copying the faded paper prints, on new negatives is done with specially designed equipment at the Hollywood laboratory of Renovare Productions. Under the direction of Kemp Niver, the studio has just completed 100,000 feet of negatives and prints from the paper films, bringing the total footage to more than two-and-a-half million.

The Academy Library is cataloging more than 600 16 mm. prints which will be placed in the Academy collection. These films date back as far as 1897, covering historic news and sports events. Among them are clips showing Presidents McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt.

In addition to this special project, the Academy Library has continued to be a constant source of information for researchers, authors, and studio writers. It is the largest of its kind in the United States, one of the most complete in the world, and cross-indexed to provide material on all phases of the motion picture industry.

The Academy Award Theater has been used regularly for membership screenings of unusual and documentary foreign films; for showings and technical forums on film production; and for preview screenings of pictures for the press and studio employees.

During the day the theater is used by studio research departments to test special effects and sound footage. At night the membership screenings and studio previews have made this modern 1,000-seat theater a meeting place for groups and forums gathered to discuss world-wide cinema developments.

During 1955 the Academy has also conducted numerous demonstrations of movie producing equipment to analyze technical and scientific achievements.

Among the other services performed by this organization is the publication of the Academy Players Directory which is the industry's official talent book, printed every four months as a cooperative service to motion picture players and Hollywood production studios. This directory lists screen credits of hundreds of actors and actresses and is distributed to casting departments, directors and executives of studios, and others concerned with employment of motion picture and radio artists.

Also prepared by the Academy are the Bulletins of Screen Achievements Records which are separate publications designed for ready reference on credits for writers, directors, and technical accomplishments. These are issued monthly and sent to studio executives, talent agencies and their representatives.

The Academy, now in its 29th year, has remained a non-subsidized but wholly integrated organ of the motion picture industry and now embraces all the principal branches of film making. Through these branches almost 2,000 active members have been selected from the actors, administrators, art directors, cinematographers, directors, executives, film editors, music, producers, public relations, short subjects, sound, and writers fields. Other branches are members-at-large and associates.

In May, 1955, Charles Brackett chose to conclude his presidency of the Academy, after having served for six years. He said that "to be president of the Academy is a flattering and invigorating experience. I've had it for the last six years and enjoyed every minute of it. Now the time has come for it to go to some one else."

In June, I had the honor to become that "some one" and am striving to continue in the pattern of my predecessor.

Also, in May, Johnny Green, first vice-president for three years, retired from his official capacity with the organization. He is one of the Academy's 13 life members, having been voted the honor by the board of governors after producing the first Academy Awards show on television in 1953. He also produced the Academy Awards show on radio in 1951.

Johnny Green was succeeded in June by Samuel G. Engel. Other officers, elected by the board, were: Fred L. Metzler, second vice-president; Edward B. Powell, secretary; Hal Elias, assistant secretary; John O. Aalberg, treasurer; Jacob Karp, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. Margaret Herrick, executive director.

WIDESPREAD ACTIVITIES

By JOHN G. FRAYNE

President, Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers

ACTIVITIES of SMPTE in 1955 were very widespread, reaching into almost every technological corner of the motion picture and television industries. The motion picture industry continued to digest the various wide screen and sound systems which have been introduced in the previous two years and prepared to face new wide screen systems being introduced during the year. Some of the developments engaging the interests of motion picture engineers during 1955 are outlined below.

FRAYNE

The CinemaScope system which had been introduced in 1953 continued to grow during the past year as evidenced by the reports on the number of theater installations in this country and abroad. However, this growth was mainly in the use of the anamorphic principle of photography and projection rather than in the use of the associated four-track magnetic stereophonic sound. The decision of 20th-Fox to make a single optical track available appeared to definitely halt the advance in the number of stereophonic installations in theaters. During the year, 20th-Fox announced improved definition in the 35-mm. CinemaScope picture quality by the use of a larger 55-mm. production negative as the photographic medium, thus meeting the objections widely raised as to the pictorial quality of CinemaScope films.

During 1955, Paramount reports several installations of their double-frame VistaVision system. The projectors are the horizontal type with standard 35-mm. film running at twice normal speed. The combination of the large VistaVision negative and the large print produces on the wide screen an image of excellent quality. It should be noted that these double frame horizontal projectors are not compatible with standard 35mm. projection. The sound system associated, up to the present time, with double frame VistaVision is the single optical variety, although it is understood that plans are underway for the addition of multi-tracks, either magnetic or optical. These VistaVision installations have so far been limited to the small number of large theaters in the larger cities of the country.

The Todd-AO 65-70-mm. wide screen system was presented to the public in October of this year at the Rivoli Theater in New York City. The camera negative employed in this system is 65-mm. wide and the release print width will ultimately be 70-mm., added space being provided outside of each set of sprocket holes to permit the recording of six magnetic sound tracks. This system differs from other so-called wide film, wide screen systems in that the projector built by the Philips Company, Holland, is said to be compatible with the projection of standard 35-mm. film. There are several innovations in the Todd-AO system, among them being the use of 30 frames per second with the view to eliminating or reducing peripheral flicker. The projector is capable of running at the high speed required for the 70-mm. film or for the standard speed of 35-mm. film. The sound quality attained with the six-track magnetic system in Todd-AO is generally agreed to be the finest recorded stereophonic sound yet presented to the public. Five loudspeakers are placed behind the screen, and in addition, speakers in the auditorium provide the surround sound effects. A novelty here is the close blending of the surround with the main sound channels.

The SMPTE held its two semiannual conventions during 1955. The first was at Chicago in April where the employment of motion pictures in educational institutions and programs was emphasized. This drew a large attendance from people in the educational world who ordinarily do not patronize these conventions of the Society. The Society had a very fine equipment exhibit also at the Chicago convention. The Fall convention was held at the beautiful Lake Placid Club, New York State. This was the fourth convention held in this setting—the last one being held in 1950. During this convention, very interesting round-table discussions were held on the production of motion pictures in Hollywood studios with emphasis being placed on the problems involved in wide-screen color photography. Proponents of the various wide-screen systems were given opportunities to present their own views on their particular contributions. Another symposium was held on projection practices using wide-screen techniques. The chief engineers of the main television chains presented another very interesting roundtable devoted to the problems of the production and distribution of color TV programs.

The annual awards of the Society for outstanding achievement were presented at the Lake Placid gathering. Among these were the Samuel L. Warner Award for sound going to Dr. Harry Olson of RCA, the Sarnoff Medal for television going to M. Laughlin of Hazeltine Corp., the Progress Medal for outstanding contributions over a number of years to Dr. Engstrom of RCA Research Laboratories and the Journal Award to Richard S. O'Brien of CBS.

Honorary membership, the highest award of the Society, was given this year to three outstanding pioneers; namely, Dr. Capstaff, retired, of Eastman Kodak Co.; Walt Disney, and Andre Debrie. Andre Debrie was the only one of the trio who was able to come to Lake Placid and both he and Madame Debrie were the outstanding personality attractions at the convention. Although Debrie could not speak English, he was able, through his wife, to engage in many animated discussions with his associates on the current problems facing the motion picture industry.

It was announced at Lake Placid that the Society had accepted the offer of Technicolor Corp. to present a gold medal, to be known as the Kalmus Award, each year to an individual for outstanding technical developments in the field of color cinematography.

The engineering activities of the Society continued to grow in scope during the year with all committees having very active agendas dealing mainly with standardization in the various fields of cinematography. The Society sent a very outstanding delegation to the International Standards Organization meeting at Stockholm in June, 1955. This delegation was under the general chairmanship of Dr. D. R. White of the DuPont Film Laboratories. Other members of the delegation included Dr. Axel Jensen, engineering vice-president of the Society; Malcolm Townsley, member of the board and vice-president of Bell & Howell; and Boyce Nemec, executive secretary of the Society. During this very important meeting the groundwork was laid for future international standardization of many of the standards now being developed independently in the various countries.

During 1955 the Society's program for aiding in education of technicians in the motion picture industry got off to a good start. One of the subcommittees, under the chairmanship of Sidney Solow, has been directly responsible for the introduction of three courses being given by the University of California extension division. These courses are slanted mainly towards laboratory personnel and the very large attendance and interest shown in these courses indicate the need for this kind of a program. It is hoped to extend the scope of this work to other technical groups, such as sound technicians, and also to make possible the presentation of similar courses in other parts of the country.

MPIC OF HOLLYWOOD—'55

By LOU GREENSPAN

Executive Secretary, Motion Picture Industry Council

NOW IN ITS SIXTH YEAR of existence, the Motion Picture Industry Council of Hollywood has established a record of steadily increasing contributions to the industry's progress, strength and unity.

For those unfamiliar with its structure, the MPIC is an organization of industry groups representing labor and management in which all actions are subject to common consent. It was created to serve as a "blue ribbon" body of Hollywood, a sort of "senate of the cinema," with broad scale representation enabling it to speak and act in behalf of the industry's production branches.

GREENSPAN

In 1949 it opened its modest offices with seven member organizations. Today its member organizations number 11, with new membership applications under consideration. The constructive influence of harmonious inter-industry relationships has been and continues to be one of the prime purposes of the MPIC. During the six years of its life, people in this industry learned to work together who hadn't worked together in a long time. Others came to respect each other's points of view, even though they still disagreed over the issues. And still others made the first steps toward the kind of all-industry turnout for which the MPIC has set the standard.

Another and equally important aim of the MPIC is its position as the "watch dog" of the industry's public relations; acting promptly and effectively in rebuttal to detractors who, seemingly, find it great sport to make Hollywood their monotonously recurring target. There are those who might ask, in fact, often have asked, "What is the MPIC doing on the offensive side—what is it doing to help publicize the good, the healthy, the safe and sound side of Hollywood?" The answer to this is simple enough to anyone familiar with the basic policies of modern newspapers and sundry publications. To paraphrase the words of Marc Antony in his funeral oration for Julius Caesar: "The evil Hollywood does lives after it, usually on the front pages; the good is oft interred with the obituaries in the back of the paper, if it gets in at all." It becomes apparent, therefore, that the rebuttal or defense mechanism provides the best and often only means of getting across the offense; for in replying to its critics and detractors, Hollywood is afforded the opportunity of setting the record straight and focusing the spotlight on its good deeds and accomplishments.

The MPIC has come to employ this "counter-punch" technique more and more as a means of propagandizing "what's right with Hollywood." When a newspaper writes a derogatory editorial about Hollywood, the MPIC promptly issues a statement of facts, which any fair-minded publication welcomes, thus clarifying its misconceptions and often completely reversing its editorial attitude towards Hollywood.

When one or more publications embark on a series of articles running down the industry, the Council goes to work and sends more facts to the periodicals involved, with the result that in some instances the series is killed off entirely or toned down considerably. In this respect the MPIC proceeds along the same line of reasoning as the ball player who protests a play to the umpire. He knows he can't change the decision already made, but he hopes that his complaint will deter the arbiter from calling it the same way the next time.

Not all of the MPIC's approach is keyed to the counterattack. Its range of activities, despite a limited staff and facilities, includes almost every phase of contact with press, government and public areas. The MPIC's Library of Information, limited though, perforce, it is, continues to provide an ever-flowing source of documented material for dissemination within and without the industry. The MPIC is constantly being solicited for speech material, as well as for speakers and for general indisputable facts about the industry itself. And it continues to provide a flow of constructive information about Hollywood and its people, thereby helping to offset some of the false impressions about the town.

In light of what the MPIC is doing and trying to do, the following remarks from an article by Oscar Hammerstein II, which appeared in a recent issue of the Screen Producers Guild Journal, are particularly significant and bear repeating here:

"If I may temper my praise with some criticism, I would like to suggest that you have been remiss in handling your public relations. Why does only one side of the Hollwood story come out? Why is it not better known that there is such a wealth of technical knowledge here, such groups of exceptional workers under such able captains? I think it is because Hollywood sends out the wrong gags about itself. One hears joke after joke about all the mistakes that are made, professional and social. The eccentrics have been featured. The number of capable people have been thrown out of focus in the background. The Hollywood character has been victimized just as some races have been injured by a recurrence of stereotyped jokes about them.

"In the past few years we have been doing something about counteracting the impression that all Italians carry stilletos, all Jews are money-lovers, all Negroes shoot craps, and all Irishmen get drunk and want to fight. The campaign shows signs of success. These jokes are becoming recognized as stale and spurious legend. They are fading away.

"The way to counteract the Hollywood stereotype is not to make vociferous denials that there are impulsive and temperamental people out here. There are, and there must be, off-beat personalities in a community devoted to creating entertainment. There are others, however, many others, the majority in fact. They are industrious, educated, well informed and productive. Let us hear more about them."

A number of other aspects of MPIC activities could be mentioned by way of illustrating areas of interest in which constructive benefits have resulted, such as providing a debating forum within the industry and bringing together around a table the accredited representatives of both management and labor groups for friendly, honest and uninhibited discussions. As far as is known, there is nothing like it in any other industry. Promulgating new projects is still another function of the MPIC, which is presently exploring plans for an International Film Festival in Hollywood and a series of industry round table discussions. This latter activity will feature in an informal and flexible manner the men and women of the various arts and crafts of the film industry and their common problems.

Yes, Hollywood will continue to fight back at its detractors, be they from the editorial desk, the rostrum or the pulpit. No longer will the industry play "dead dog" to anyone with an ax to grind, which invariably turns out to be a publicity ax. Through the MPIC, Hollywood will fight back by a very simple propaganda device—the disseminating of the truth about the people of the industry. In the words of the preamble to the charter of the Motion Picture Industry Council:

"Perhaps no other industry contacts so intimately and significantly as many lives of the world's population as does the motion picture industry of the United States.

"The responsibility of people working within the industry is a responsibility not only to a major economic enterprise, but also to an important social institution. We in motion pictures portray human character and human emotions; we describe cultural patterns; we report information; we interpret individual and social experiences.

"Because of the role we play in public life, we face incalculable risks and a precarious system of trial and error. We are constantly trying to perform the extremely difficult task of interpreting successfully the varied and uncertain likes and dislikes of the motion picture-going public at home and abroad.

"We believe that the motion picture industry of the United States has performed generally for the public good and for the public welfare in war and in peace, and that it has made a contribution to America. We seek to continue and expand this good influence of motion pictures.

"In an effort to continue to carry out our responsibilities to the nation and to humanity everywhere, we have organized a Motion Picture Industry Council so that all of us who work in the motion picture industry can seek and discover areas of common agreement to the end that we may move forward toward our objective with dignity, integrity and conscience."

And that still goes!

$3,200,000 HEART FUND

By GEORGE HOOVER

Chief Barker, Variety Clubs International

IN THESE DAYS, when expenditures by government and private industry annually run into the billions, $3,200,000 doesn't seem like a lot of money. But, when this amount is spent aiding underprivileged and handicapped children and adults all over the world, it assumes gigantic proportions.

I don't believe there is one member of Variety Clubs International who has not given generously of time, money and talents toward the charities supported by our tents.

Our newest addition, Tent 46 in Seattle, has gotten into the thick of things very quickly. Already, plans are being formulated for a Heart Clinic, which will benefit both children and adults.

The Mother Tent in Pittsburgh, which last year won the Heart Fund award, is the symbol of all Variety Clubs hope to achieve. Just recently, the cornerstone was laid on a modern addition to the Roselia Foundling Home and Maternity Hospital, the number one charity of the Tent. This institution has an adoption program which is considered one of the finest in the country by experts. Also maintained by the Pittsburgh Tent is Camp O'Connell, where 1,200 children each year enjoy the pleasures of a summer camp.

New Orleans, which is celebrating its first anniversary as a Variety Tent, is doing a wonderful job with the Crippled Children's Hospital, which it has adopted as its main charity. The tent also proved itself a genial host at the annual mid-winter meeting of international officers, held there in October.

One of our smaller tents, Buffalo, is doing a big job with its cerebral palsy clinic, while Boston, one of our mainstays, has continued its fine work with the Cancer Research Hospital. Dr. Sydney Farber and his staff won international recognition for their work at this wonderful institution.

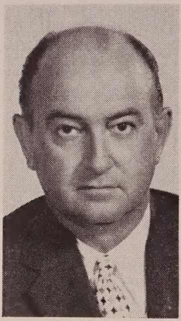
Las Vegas has proved that its heart is as big as the gambling casinos of the city. Tent 39 recently completed an addition to the School for Handicapped Children, which last year received almost $100,000 from our barkers there.

We can never say enough about the Heart Hospital on the campus of the University of Minnesota. Built by the Variety Club of the Northwest at a cost of over $1,000,000, research is going on constantly that someday will help deal a death blow to disease of the heart.



HOOVER

Many of our tents, such as Toronto, Omaha and Dallas, have sponsored schools in which handicapped or homeless children are given a home and taught a vocation that will allow them to lead normal lives later in life.

Cerebral Palsy, epilepsy, infantile paralysis and cancer are among the diseases which Variety Clubs are helping to fight, either by joining in national drives or maintaining local institutions which combat these conditions or provide the special care needed for those afflicted with them.

In addition, retarded, rheumatic and blind children are cared for by many of the tents, either directly or through hospitals and care centers maintained by the groups. Hospitals, clinics, camps, health centers, day nurseries, sanitariums and special schools are among projects supported either fully or in part by our tents.

All our tents have other charitable work in addition to their main effort. Almost half a million dollars was donated last year to outside charities by our tents.

A television set here, a phonograph there, bats, gloves, footballs, motion picture equipment, refrigerators, wheelchairs and crutches are only a few of the things that are donated either to individuals or organizations by Variety Clubs.

And who knows how many thousands of children or adults have seen a football game, a motion picture or other entertainment events as guests of a tent or an individual barker?

There are over 10,000 show people on our rolls, and each of them has a heart as big as the one we use to symbolize our organization—the Heart of Show Business.

SERVICE SUCCESS STORY

By LORAINE CASS

President, Women of the Motion Picture Industry

A LITTLE over four years ago, when the Women of the Motion Picture Industry organized with one club in Dallas, they had one prime objective. Today, with 10 clubs, and more than 700 members, WOMPI, as the Women of the Motion Picture Industry are known, carry on with that one primary objective—"to inculcate the ideal of service as a basis of all worthy enterprises and to promote good will for the Motion Picture Industry."

The WOMPI success story has spread from Denver, to the West; to Jacksonville, in the Southeast; on to the far North with our Canadian members in Toronto. Every member is dedicated to this ideal, sincerely set forth in the beginning by the Dallas Club.

During the coming year, women who work at the desks of the motion picture industry in Atlanta, will distribute gifts to the Formwalt Street Mission. They will purchase shoes for many deserving unfortunates at Eastertime and become harking "Old Newsboys" for the cerebral palsy drive in their city.

The younger clubs of WOMPI—Denver; Charlotte, Jacksonville, Houston, Washington, and Toronto, have found this same spark of good will for our industry. All are eagerly busy with energetic service projects. Denver members will do service at the Wallace Home for Brain Injured Children, lending a helping hand where needed. In Toronto, they will bring food to the unfortunate and once every week, a WOMPI will give stenographic assistance to the Woodgreen Community Center.

Houston members have contacted the Bailey Burnett County Girls Home and plan to care for one of the girls for the coming year, giving her some of the nicer things of life. The March of Dimes will be assisted by physical and monetary help from the Charlotte WOMPI, who will also see that needy families are given food and clothing. Jacksonville has enthusiastically adopted The Pinecastle School for Retarded Children as one of their objectives for the coming year. Washington is working side by side with their Variety Club, helping in any way they can.

Women of the Motion Picture Industry have found that it is too easy to "just reach into our pockets" and give. We want, and we do, give more. In New Orleans, WOMPIS give of their lunch hours to fill Christmas stockings for 400 orphans they adopted two years ago, and to whom they give a motion picture party with Santa Claus and all the trimmings.

MRS. CASS

The New Orleans Club also has three needy families to whom they give a personal touch of happiness by regular WOMPI visits, taking food and clothing. Each year before Christmas, the New Orleans WOMPIS join with the Tuberculosis Association and distribute Christmas Seal Trailers to theaters in the territory and personally deliver the trailers to the first run houses in New Orleans with a parade and a "real live" Santa Claus. In Memphis, WOMPIS have invaded the children's ward of the John Gaston Hospital and sponsored a trick horse named "DOTTY" for the crippled children.

Close to every WOMPI's heart, of course, are the movies! The Dallas Club has shown 16mm. movies to the Episcopal Mission, focusing a brighter side of life to those in attendance. They also take along candy and gum. Between this mission and the County Juvenile Home, Dallas will have a busy year doing for others.

In our association membership, we have found unusually good talent for service. In Dallas, members have modeled beautiful jewelry, featured in famous motion pictures, at the State Fair. In New Orleans, WOMPI has a choral group, and although very young, is talented, and they give of their time and talent to entertain others.

WOMPI are confident that through their endeavors, they are more and more an integral part of the Industry. Our service success story will go on each year, growing bigger and better—for the Women of the Motion Picture Industry fully realize and know one can never do too much for others.

We will never forget—the value of time; the pleasure of working; the worth of character; the power of kindness; the influence of example; the obligation of duty; the virtue of patience; the joy of originating, and the success of service.

SAG CONTINUES GAINS

By JOHN L. DALES

National Executive Secretary, The Screen Actors Guild

A RECORD GROWTH in membership marked the year 1955 for the Screen Actors Guild—the AFL-CIO organization that represents for collective bargaining purposes all actors, singers and announcers in theatrical and television motion pictures and all other forms of motion pictures.

DALES

We are also pleased to report that during the year, the Guild continued its long-time policy of contributing to the general welfare of the entire motion picture industry.

While there are still too many American motion pictures being made in foreign countries to suit Guild members (and we have no objection to those pictures made abroad for locale reasons), it is fortunate for the American actor that production of motion pictures for television —both entertainment films and filmed commercials—is constantly increasing and providing work for players.

The national paid-up membership of the Guild increased from 8,370 as of Oct. 31, 1954, to 9,832 on the same date in 1955. In 1951, the membership was 7,300. In Hollywood, the increase during the year was from 6,334 to 7,189. In the eight other cities where the Guild has branches—New York, Chicago, Boston, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh, San Francisco—the increase was from 2,036 to 2,643, the New York branch alone rising from 1,581 to 2,120.

The year 1955 was marked by a strike of actors against the producers of television entertainment films. It was only the second strike in the 22-year history of the Guild and I am glad to say that it was terminated after 12 days when the TV film producers agreed that actors should receive additional (residual) payment for the second run of a video program. With this new contract, our members now receive residual payments on the second to the sixth runs inclusive.

During the last year these residual payments under the terms of the old contract totalled $565,369 and with the new contract, we expect this amount to be doubled in 1956.

The Guild now has 980 employer signatories of its collective bargaining contracts, including 269 letters of adherence signed by advertising agencies.

The Guild, like the rest of the motion picture industry, has its problems. But we face the future with confidence.

NEVER JUDGE A GROUP BY ITS LABEL

By SAMUEL ENGEL

President, Screen Producers Guild

IN ANCIENT TIMES artisans, engaged in the same crafts and professions, banded together and organized guilds. The basic idea was to promote a mutual aid association. In this way we could advance common interests and ideas so that as a group we might arrive at higher levels of skills and craftsmanship.

ENGEL

Through the years the word, "guild," has come to take on a number of different complexions. Probably the most flagrant of these terminology twists has been the mental association of "guild" with labor unions or bargaining agencies.

This has come about because so many of Hollywood's creative groups, operating actually, or as quasi labor unions, have added the word "guild" to their organizational titles. However, the Screen Producers Guild is not such an organization. SPG, in the main, was never organized to function as a bargaining agency. Its constitution makes no provisions for dealing with studios to gain better working conditions, higher salaries or any of the other benefits sought by labor unions for its memberships.

We have sought an affinity with the desires of those ancients who organized craft and professional guilds throughout Europe in olden times. From the very outset our chief aim has been to perform a dual purpose:

Firstly, we have been striving to elevate the standards of the producer within and without the industry. This necessitated breaking down a number of prejudices and misconceptions.

From the public's point of view, we have worked toward bestowing upon our members a dignity and a professional estate comparable to the position occupied by ethical and creatively-successful legitimate theater producers. Toward this end we had to erase from public consciousness the caricature impressions of a producer created in "Once In A Lifetime" and similar literary and theatrical barbs aimed at Hollywood.

In the case of the industry itself, the task was less simplified. Establishing the fact that producers are people, we aimed to prove that we were not (a) glamorized cost accountants, (b) sworn enemies of every screenplay writer, (c) the nightmares in the dreams of all actors and actresses, (d) road blocks in the creative pursuits of each director.

Today the Screen Producers Guild relaxes in the affirmation that it has met these challenges and succeeded in its primary purpose. The producer is regarded with respect by all creative guilds and crafts. Because of his own guild and chiefly his individual conduct and intelligence he is acknowledged as a vital, integral and creative force in the making of a motion picture. This respect is shared not only by those with whom he works in the making of films, but with the occupants of the front office, those whose job it is to critically appraise motion pictures, and with the public who buy our wares at the box office.

Our second objective in laying the cornerstone of our guild was to promote not only our own, but the general welfare of the entire film industry, particularly in its relationship with the consumer-public.

In this regard we now serve—as do other guilds — as industry stewards. In cooperation and in collaboration with industry-wide guilds, unions and corporate representatives, we help spearhead key projects for the welfare of our own people, the nation at large, the free world in general and the needy people of the earth.

Many of our members sit on the boards of the Motion Picture Industry Council, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences, the Motion Picture Relief Fund, the now defunct Hollywood Coordinating Committee and other worthwhile groups.

Within the precincts of our own guild we have created the Milestone Awards to pay homage to the great of our own ranks, because of their creative and artistic contributions. Basically, the honor paid these distinguished men is reflected by the widespread good public relations gained by the entire industry through all its separate and joint constructive efforts.

In collaboration with Look Magazine, our annual awards to college and university film study groups, who produce original motion pictures as laboratory experiments, have achieved a triple purpose: It again bestows good public relations upon the industry at large; it encourages young and promising talent and in many instances, it has opened the doors of Hollywood studios to those creative students who must someday replace us and assume our obligations to the industry and the public.

The stature and contributions of the Screen Producers Guild are hailed by each of our members with satisfaction and allowable pride.

A GRATIFYING YEAR

By GEORGE SIDNEY

President, Screen Directors' Guild

THE YEAR of 1955 was one of the most gratifying in the history of the Screen Directors' Guild. It was a year in which the Guild moved into its new home, embarked on an interesting and productive television series, and welcomed to membership in its ranks an increasing number of craftsmen from other creative branches of the motion picture industry who are expanding their talent to include directing.

SIDNEY

On June 5, the Guild opened its new headquarters building and theater at the corner of Sunset Blvd. and Hayworth Ave. in Hollywood. The theater, seating 440, has become the center of many Hollywood film activities in addition to being used for its own screenings, particularly those of pictures nominated by members of the Guild for outstanding directorial achievement, the theater has been utilized by various industry groups for press and preview showings. Special film forums and screenings of outstanding European and experimental motion pictures are part of its regular schedule.

The theater is one of the most modern in the world, being the first to be equipped to permit the projection of CinemaScope, VistaVision, Todd-AO and Superscope on a single large screen, as well as standard size and 16mm. film.

Our new building, because of its many features and location, is an ideal meeting place for the numerous motion picture and television organizations in Hollywood, and a number of them are making use of it. The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences sponsored two highly informative and well-attended forum programs in the theater. It also was the site of the first Hollywood presentation of the George Eastman House "George Award" to actresses, actors, directors and cameramen who made a distinctive and outstanding contribution to the art of the American Cinema during the memorable period from 1915 to 1925.

A number of major producing companies have used the theater for special screenings and press previews of their top films. Foreign film makers, notably Japanese, have found it an ideal place in which to show their product to industry representatives and the press. During the year, the theater has housed demonstrations of new film processes and techniques, and we have had the pleasure of making our building available for meetings of the Motion Picture Industry Council and the Screen Producers Guild.

We are proud of our new home, the fulfillment of a dream of 18 years.

Early in the year, the Guild, through Screen Directors, Inc., its fund-raising subsidiary, entered into a contract with the Hal Roach Studios and Eastman Kodak Co. to make available the services of its members for a half-hour filmed television anthology series. Telecast weekly over NBC-TV, the program was launched early in October and has resulted in a highly interesting series in which a number of outstanding directors are making their television debuts.

All of the profit realized from this venture is being turned over to the Guild's Educational and Benevolent Foundation for its many worthy activities.

Another highlight of the year, as it has been for many years, was the Annual Awards Dinner Dance at which time the Guild pays tribute to the top creative achievements of its members, both in motion pictures and television film. For the second year, the Guild also publicly recognized the work of the nation's motion picture critics, with the Annual Critic's Award going to Harold V. Cohen, motion picture editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

An improved supplement to the basic television agreement was concluded during the year, resulting in numerous benefits to our members. The membership at its annual meeting voted complete endorsement of the Production Code Administration of the Association of Motion Picture Producers and urged similar action by other industry crafts and Guilds. And I am particularly pleased to point to the fact that our members set a most commendable record in their support of the various charitable activities of the industry.

The coming year will mark our 20th Anniversary and we are looking forward to it as a year in which we will continue to increase our contributions to the art of motion pictures.

WORKING ORGANIZATION

By EDMUND HARTMANN

President, Writers Guild of America, West

ON NOV. 15, 1955 the Writers Guild of America celebrated its first birthday. The cocktail party at the Beverly Hilton was more than just an anniversary get-together. It was formal notice to the world that our Guild was an established working organization. The concept of radio, television and screen writers united in a great and powerful single guild turned out to be practical, workable and enormously advantageous.

HARTMANN

We now speak for all employed writers. No writer groups dispute the claims of our guild to being sole bargaining agents. The networks and film studios already realize that we have banded together in strength and that we are fair minded and constructive but determined bargainers. In our first year we have concluded working agreements with the major and independent film studios on theatrical pictures; the networks on Live television and radio; the Majors on film television and are re-opening with the Alliance of Television Film Producers. We are also in the process of bargaining for film television contracts with the networks.

Although unified into a single guild we retain our individual craft structures for the purpose of dealing with unique and special problems of the separate crafts. However, policy decision is made by our guild council composed of members elected by the membership at large, from each of the branches. In the first year, one of the most heartening discoveries was that council members vote, not as craft units, but as writers concerned with overall guild benefits. TV council members vote against other TV members; screen writers and radio writers are motivated by individual opinion rather than by tight little group decision.

Several times in the first year, the crafts have had widely divergent opinions which have been resolved by open discussions in the council.

The same attitude has been found in the national conferences. Twice a year representatives from the Writers Guild of America, East, meet with representatives of Writers Guild, West, and talk over any differences that may have arisen in the six months intervening. Crises and splits which seemed impossible to heal from 3,000 miles away, became matters of simple misunderstanding easily resolved or at least understood when discussed across a table.

This is not to say that all is serene and tranquil in the Writers Guild. No organization of several thousand highly articulate and opinionated writers is ever going to be serene. By the very nature of the membership the guild will always be a ferment and turmoil of ideas and plans. We will try out various forms and many new thoughts. Some will be practical, others unworkable. There is nothing sacred about our present formula for organization. We expect to be changing and improving from now on. We would not be writers if our guild was not a proving ground for new and better ideas.

After one year of operation, we know that we have a good thing. The Writers Guild of America is the finest instrument yet devised by writers to watch over our welfare.

Some years ago one of our colleagues said that the play was the thing. It is one of our main functions to point out that a play does not suddenly emerge full blown. There is a writer involved. For too long he has been considered an impractical dreamer, an amiable idiot to be locked away with his quill and parchment while more reasonable men put his ideas to use. Slowly, but surely, writers are becoming recognized as able leaders, organizers and executives. It will be the policy of the Writers Guild of America to guide and encourage this happy development. The present is exciting and the future is bright with promise.

5 YEARS OF PROGRESS

By RICHARD CAHOON

President, American Cinema Editors

THE American Cinema Editors was organized five years ago as a professional society to advance the art of the film editing profession. We feel we have accomplished much of its originally stated purpose and have been able to advance the prestige of our group in the film industry.

CAHOON

The ACE organization is a professional society and not a guild as some believe. Our members comprise a contingent of 95 per cent of the top film editors in Hollywood — all of whom are members of IATSE, yet ACE is completely autonomous.

We are pleased with many of our accomplishments, one of which is that we were the very first organization to hold intra-industry seminars probing production problems as they concerned the collaboration of the various allied crafts. We also were foremost in orienting our own members of the development of various new processes and techniques in the industry, all of which has proven most helpful to the film editor, and has, in each case, resulted in a greater contribution by the film editor to the entertainment industry.

The American Cinema Editors organization takes special pride in two outstanding yearly events which we sponsor. One is the Critics' Awards in which the press, by vote, selects the best film editing of the year in two categories, motion pictures and television. The other is the Awards Dinner at which our organization and the entertainment industry honor the film editors nominated for the Academy Awards.

We feel these events are invaluable in bringing a closer understanding and feeling of mutual interests, not only between our own members, but with the many who make up the allied arts in this creative entertainment industry.

It is extremely satisfying to anyone to receive recognition for a job well done, and we editors, as individuals as well as a group, are proud of the following excerpts from unsolicited letters from two of the industry's foremost motion picture producers. Sam Goldwyn wrote:

"No one knows better than a producer how important the film editor is in the making of a fine picture. The public generally never hears about the film editor except once a year at Academy Awards time—and then wonders what it is that he is getting that Oscar for. But the people in the motion picture industry know that the film editor's work is vital to the success of a picture. I have been fortunate in having had a reasonable number of successful pictures in my career and I have been equally fortunate, over the past 20 years or so, in having had Danny Mandell working with me and contributing more than a full share to the success of those pictures.

"There is one quality about Danny that I admire above others. His technical competence and ability are outstanding, of course —everyone in the industry is familiar with them. Few people in the business know more about the techniques of editing a picture than Danny. But what I respect and appreciate more than anything else in his work is his complete integrity."

Recently the American Cinema Editors received the following from Hal B. Wallis:

"It has occurred to me after seeing two recent fine examples of film editing that Hollywood and the public are not sufficiently aware and appreciative of the tremendous contribution that the American Cinema Editors make to motion pictures.

"I want you to know that in my opinion there is no craft or art which plays a more vital role in a picture. The editor can make or break a picture. A good editor can make a good picture better. A bad editor can ruin it.

"In particular, I should like to pay tribute to my own ACE editor, Warren Low, whose wise counsel and able help I have been fortunate to have for over 20 years. His most recent performances with 'The Rose Tattoo' and 'Artists and Models' I submit as sterling examples of his usual fine work.

"Yours for greater recognition and reward."

On behalf of the film editors in our organization, I want to thank these producers and the many others who have been so generous with their gracious comments of our efforts.

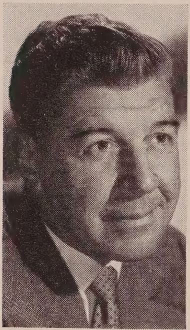
The American Cinema Editors is proud to be a part of this great industry and will continue to contribute to the best of our ability.

DEFINING PRODUCTION

By TOM LEWIS

President, National Society of Television Producers

ONCE, BEFORE THE WAR, when I had just been promoted to head of radio production for that great advertising agency, Young & Rubicam, I was called upon to present my department to a very important client-prospect who was looking over the leading ad agencies with an eye to awarding one of them his big account. In such a presentation every department "presents" or explains its function to the client-to-be.



LEWIS

My department was housed on the lowest floor of that portion of the New York skyscraper Young & Rubicam occupied, and so it came last on the guided tour. Always eager to see a unique opportunity in any circumstance however dismal, I spent the waiting hours in rehearsing my radio colleagues in what I thought was a "brilliant" presentation.

Well, if it wasn't brilliant exactly, it was, at least, born before its time—a sort of Madison Ave. version of T. S. Eliot's "Cocktail Party," performed in a conversational-ball-passing technique reminiscent of the Harlem Globe Trotters.

As an example, I (newly promoted I) planned to open this seance with a few words calculated to assure Mr. Big of our sincere conviction that we could help him solve his every sales problem. After thus putting him at his ease, I planned to pass the ball to Joe Moran—head of commercial copy, who would tell the prospect how to sell his product by radio—and then Joe would pass the ball on to —well you get the idea.

Evidently the prospective client and his entourage got the idea too. And being three hours over-schedule already, they were just too weary to pretend they didn't. Before I got out those first reassuring remarks, the Great One fixed me with his tired, beady eyes and asked, "What is production, Mr. Lewis?"

I stared back at him blankly. After all our elaborate preparation—"What is production"! No words, reassuring or otherwise, issued from that open mouth—just silence with everybody looking at everybody else more or less expectantly. Then someone said something, and from this point on, our presentation was less like unto T. S. Eliot's "Cocktail Party" than it was to a few hastily scrambled eggs. I would like to record that I recovered somewhere along the line, gave out with a succinct and definitive statement about production and locked up the new account. The fact is, however, I did not.

The following morning I woke up with the answer. By that time, of course, our prospect was a prospect no more. Well—Mr. Big, wherever you are—here it is, 15 years late!

"Production is the bringing to life in vital, dynamic terms of an idea or a chain of thought." And that applies to theatrical production in any medium with which I've had to do, including the production of television shows on film.

The premise, that the primary function of a producer in any medium is to bring the dimension of life to the dormant written word, carries with it the acknowledgment of the producer's many dependencies in achieving the finished result.

He needs writers to give form and theme to the idea, to create characters to take the place of the thoughts and words, both antagonistic and protagonistic to the basic theme. He needs actors to replace these characters merely written on paper and absorb as their own the thoughts assigned these characters. He needs art directors who build authentic sets against which the performers act out these thoughts with an emotion so contagious to the viewer that the developed theme, the play now, becomes more real for the moment than reality itself.

If the opposite effect—escape from reality—is the producer's goal, he uses approximately the same means but uses them differently. and to another end. The music that heightened the dramatic effect—or provided the necessary suspense—takes on another nature. Choreography is added—dancing plays its part in telling the story—and the performers burlesque everyday annoyances into amusing absurdities. The star whose dramatic tension so infects the viewer becomes now a comic whose rare gift it is to make us laugh at his inadequacies and so forget our own. Since a producer must maintain objectivity at all costs, he must depend upon a director to guide and discipline the performers and technicians all along the way.

When a producer achieves a high average in making his product attractive to audiences—we say he has "good taste."

Good taste, then, must consist of respect and sensitivity to talents of many kinds, actual or potential and to the kind of atmosphere in which talented people can work in harmony. The same respect and sensitivity must extend far beyond the confines of the sound studios to the audiences themselves.

In television, particularly, a knowledge of audience tastes and habits is as important to success as a knowledge of the extent of limitations of one's co-workers. For this is not a transient audience. It is not enough to interest or entertain the viewers on a one-shot basis. One must make friends of them—friends and potential customers of the sponsoring product which makes possible the whole deal.

All this applies to any television producer—filmed or "live." Wherein lies the difference? Both are dependent upon expert camera work because nothing in television ever reaches the living room receiver until it has passed first through the lens of a camera. For film and live producer both—the camera work is equally important. The eye being quicker than the ear—the cameraman, by his use of light and shadow, has often established the mood of the piece before a line of dialogue has been spoken.

Yet there is a difference between filmed and "live" shows. The "live" producer is virtually through the minute the camera records his completed show. The film man is just beginning his work. From this point on—film—not words—not actors—but film becomes his medium. His success or failure depends on how he edits that film; how he puts it together. Long shots establish locale. They orient the audience. Medium shots, close-ups, dissolves, and fadeouts punctuate the story and accent desired action. They also tell the story in terms of time. They give the picture its pace. It is no idle tale that many a picture has been lost or saved in the cutting and dubbing rooms. That dean of cutters—Margaret Boothe—tells me that in the early days, the producer never knew whether he had a comedy or a drama until he assembled the film.

Television film-making is just like making movies for exhibition in theaters, then? No—because here lies a paradox. The approach to the mass audience of television—like that of radio before it—is an intimate approach. It is seen on 11-inch screens by small family groups. It is no accident that as more and more families turned to these small screens for their entertainment, the producers of theater film expanded their screens. They became larger and larger—curved and almost three dimensional. The audience approach changed from an appeal to spectator viewing to an attempt to bring the audience right into the show itself. We don't go to look at Gordon MacRae as "Curley" in "Oklahoma!" We ride alongside him in that "surrey with the fringe on top"! That's what the ads say!

We have more in common with the "live" show producer. Just as he has borrowed from us the technique of the camera, we have borrowed from him the "first night" quality of the live show—its vitality and immediacy found elsewhere only in the legitimate theater. The live show has taught us not to sacrifice the realism of a spontaneously begotten scene for the cold perfectionism of flawless photography. Bob Cummings rehearses his company many days, but he photographs his complete show in only one.

So filmed television—offspring of radio and motion pictures, is an entity in its own right. It is evolving a technique of its own. And all television producers are evolving characteristics individual to their jobs too. They are, for the most part, mature minded, well rounded creators who can administer as well as create.

This is a good sign because never in the history of show business has a producer more need of good citizenship and mature, responsible judgment. He plays to the largest, most important audience ever available to a single production—and he meets this audience on the most intimate and vulnerable terms — the sacred precincts of their own homes.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

By ETHEL ROSEN

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

HOLLYWOOD

NINETEEN FIFTY-FIVE will go down in film history as a year of several important "firsts" and of marked progress in every angle of production.

The year saw the emergence of the first successful public voting on what ticket buyers like the way of pictures and players. December's Audience Awards sponsored by COMPO confirmed the likes of some 12,000,000 patrons.

Warners walked off with four out of five prizes in what will become an annual moviegoers' election. Warners' winners were: "Mr. Roberts," best picture; James Dean, best actor (awarded posthumously); Tab Hunter and Peggy Lee, most outstanding new personalities. Twentieth-Fox was the sole competitor, with Jennifer Jones voted the best actress.

The Motion Picture Industry Council expressed fear that the COMPO poll would undermine the long-established Academy Awards. However, an informal poll among exhibitors showed 848 in favor and only 67 against the new awards. And the handling of Audience Awards earned general praise and presaged an important trend in allowing the general public to voice its entertainment desires. It also served to indicate what kind of talent was needed in the continuing search for new faces.

ROSEN

Another important 1955 event was the virtually full consummation of the marriage between TV and films. "Every studio in Hollywood will be turning out pictures for TV within two years," Leonard Goldenson, AB-PT president, predicted early in the year. With M-G-M, Columbia, Fox, Disney and Warners already aboard the TV bandwagon, it seemed possible the forecast would come true in shorter time.

Hollywood's search for film fodder also turned to television—more than a dozen TV plays were either filmed or planned as features and many top TV players, writers and directors were recruited for film duty. Hollywood also loomed as the future center for the nation's TV activities, witness NBC's projected $6 million Hollywood expansion and the continual move of more top-rated shows to the West Coast.

Concurrent with the rise in television's influence, the major studios successfully fought the United States demand that producers sell 16 mm. versions of their films to TV. On Dec. 6, a Federal Court in Los Angeles found in favor of the defendant producers-distributors, with the judgment that private industry can't be required to supply its product to a newly-arisen competition.

Perhaps the largest single financial transaction in film industry annals took place in the Fall with the purchase of Howard K. Hughes' RKO Radio Pictures by General Tire and Rubber and its subsidiaries, General Teleradio, presided over by Thomas F. O'Neil. A check for $25,000,000 was presented to Hughes for his picture-producing company and RKO passed into the hands of the corporation which owns the Mutual Broadcasting System.

RKO meanwhile, made plans to become active again in production and put William Dozier back to work as production head. David O. Selznick also rejoined the company as a producer.

The battle of the 'scopes continued, although abated, with Todd-AO's 2-1 ratio making its much-heralded debut as the process used on the film version of "Oklahoma!" Twentieth Century-Fox used its 2.55-1, 55m, CinemaScope on two films, "Carousel" and "The King and I."

Michael Todd, a key figure in the production of "Oklahoma!", bowed out of both Magna Theaters and Todd-AO, selling all 346,000 shares and 128,000 warrants of his interests. Todd went out on a limb to make, solo, one of the most ambitious projects ever attempted by one man, "Around the World in 80 Days," which he budgeted at $6,000,000, mostly his own money.

Business wise, movie makers made up their losses on ordinary or "program" pictures with sensational grosses on some of the biggest and costliest films ever made. A continued upsurge in business abroad accounted for 50 per cent of revenue in some cases. In at least one instance, foreign business forged ahead of domestic billings. In the first six months of 1955, Fox's foreign gross topped United States and Canadian business by $250,000.

Controversy over "The Man With The Golden Arm," United Artists' film about dope addiction, caused the company to withdraw Dec. 8 from the Motion Picture Producers Association after the Association failed to grant the film a Code seal. UA had been a member of MPAA less than 15 months. The film received a "condemned" rating from the National Legion of Decency, but passed the New York State Censor Board.

United Artists and other companies became involved in the sharp rise of percentage deals with top stars who entered independent production wholly or partly financed by the studios. Marlon Brando, Joan Crawford, Frank Sinatra, Kirk Douglas, Rita Hayworth and others took advantage of the financing, releasing, and profit-sharing opportunities.

Charles Chaplin, one of the founders of UA, disposed of his 25 per cent interest in the company. Mary Pickford, another of the original partners, sold her interest in the original UA home, now the Samuel Goldwyn Studio, to Goldwyn for $984,000.

On the labor front, IATSE demanded and got the five-day work week. The new contract, effective Jan. 30, 1956, promises unprecedented changes for an industry long accustomed to the six-day week.

Monthly retirement benefits under the motion picture industry pension plan were increased to $50 from $20 as a result of new collective bargaining contracts. More than 17,000 employees are covered by the plan, which will start payment of benefits in 1960 to qualified workers retired at 65 or older.

Plans for a permanent motion picture exposition to benefit tourists and students of the industry started bravely, but failed to jell and the project was abandoned in August. The reason given was rising costs, but there was feeling in certain quarters that inertia was the real reason.

CENSOR BOARDS

Addresses and Regulations

STATE CENSOR BOARDS AND RULES

Kansas

State Board of Review, Sixth and Armstrong Streets, Kansas City, Kansas; Mrs. Frances Vaughn, chairman; Mrs. George Rahner, Mrs. Willard Cook.

The board "shall approve such films, reels, including subtitles, spoken dialogue, songs, other words or sounds, folders, posters and advertising matter which are moral and proper; and shall disapprove such as are cruel, obscene, indecent, or immoral, or such as tend to debase or corrupt morals."

In addition to the quotation from the statute, this board has adopted the following rules:

A. Pictures should be clean and wholesome and all features that tend to debase morals or influence the mind to improper conduct should be eliminated.

B. Ridicule of any religious sect or peculiar characteristics of any race of people will not be approved.

C. Evil suggestion in the dress of comedy characters will be eliminated.

D. Loose conduct between men and women will be eliminated, and whenever possible, barroom scenes and social drinking.

E. A display of nude human figures will be eliminated.

F. Crimes and criminal methods, such as give instruction in crime through suggestion, will be eliminated or abbreviated.

G. Prolonged and passionate love scenes, when suggestive of immorality will be eliminated.

SUNDAY CLOSING REGULATIONS

Alabama

Legalized by local option. Sunday shows in Anniston, Ensley, Montgomery, Auburn, Demopolis, Dothan, Selma, Troy, Cullman, Jasper, Mobile, Tuscaloosa. Bill passed in 1937 legalizing Sunday shows in Jefferson County (Leeds, Tarrant, Birmingham). Sunday closing in Camden, Greenville, Linden, Livingston, York. Attorney General ruled in 1942. Sunday films not prohibited in towns less than 15,000. Sunday shows closed in Bessemer June 1945—opened by referendum vote Oct. 2, 1945.

Arizona

No state legislation.

Arkansas

Legislature of 1931 passed law legalizing Sunday shows by local option. 1939 legislature passed bill legalizing Sunday motion pictures.

California

No state legislation against Sunday amusements.

Colorado

Legalized by local option—law on statute books interpreted as prohibiting Sunday shows, passed in 1871, but some years ago case was appealed to Supreme Court of State and decision rendered that law did not prevent operation of motion picture theaters on Sunday. No towns forbid shows by local ordinance, although some of smaller towns do not have Sunday shows.

Connecticut

Local option throughout the state. Hartford and Danbury do not allow Sunday matinees, but theaters open at five p.m. State passed bill in 1937 permitting theaters to remain open Sunday night until 11 p.m. instead of 10:30, and in 1945 further liberalized law permitting opening at 1 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. and closing at 11:30 p.m.

Delaware

Legislature defeated bill in 1937 for statewide Sunday films instead of local option. 1941—Repealed Blue Laws—provides local option for Sunday movies between noon and 6 p.m. and from 8 p.m. until midnight on Sunday. Newark, by referendum 6-10-42, banned Sunday pictures.

District of Columbia

Theaters open on Sunday.

Florida

Legalized by local option. All large towns have Sunday shows. Key West in December, 1946 enforced a 1913 ordinance calling for Sunday opening after six p.m. and requiring theaters to pay 20 per cent of net proceeds to local charity.

Georgia

Does not permit motion pictures on Sunday. In spite of blue laws, however, Atlanta, Albany, Columbus, and Thomasville do show pictures. Savannah permits Sunday shows between 2 and 6 and after 9:30 p.m. Proceeds to charity; Marietta—Theaters open on Sunday from 1 to 7 p.m. and again at 8:45 p.m. to serve war plant workers and service men. Winder City council approved Sunday shows April, 1946 under agreement that half of receipts be given city for operation of schools. Blackshear permitted American Legion to show Sunday pictures but city council rescinded ordinance.

Idaho

State law prohibits Sunday shows, but upon signed petition of the majority of voters, presented to City Council, question is submitted to voters of community and popular vote governs action of council. Practically every sizeable town in state operates on Sunday.

Illinois

No state law legalizing or making illegal showing of pictures on Sunday. This is controlled by municipalities. No Sunday shows in Sparta and Waverly.

Indiana

Not legalized, but Sunday motion pictures are shown in every principal city in State. No Sunday shows in Oakland City.

Iowa

Legalized by local option.

Kansas

Has Sunday labor laws which include motion pictures for Sunday showing. Law has never been enforced and all towns operate except White Cloud, Smith Center, Lindsborg, Scott City, Clifton, Baldwin, Greenleaf, Lincoln, Jetmore, Spearville, Oskaloosa.

Kentucky

Bill legalizing Sunday performances passed 1934 State Court of Appeals in 1942 declared Sunday movies permitted by state law and no municipality can prohibit them.

Louisiana

Legalized by local option.

Maine

1939 law permits Sunday movies between 3 and 11 p.m. 1941—Legislature passed local option referendum exercised at regular elections—effective July 26, 1941.

Maryland

Legislature in 1931 enacted law providing referendum for city of Baltimore which was voted on and passed. Theaters open in following counties: Baltimore, Carroll, Montgomery, Prince George, St. Mary's, Howard, Oakland, and Anne Arundel. Incorporated towns in Allegheny County may have Sunday showings provided that they obtain permit from municipal authorities. 1943 Legislature passed laws permitting Sunday shows in Aberdeen and Frederick City during certain hours, and in Washington County between 1 and 7 p.m. Cecil County by vote of 1945 Legislature may have Sunday shows by local option from 2 to 11 p.m. Other counties have not passed laws permitting Sunday shows.

Massachusetts

Legalized for Sunday showing. A large number of cities and towns are forbidden showings on Sundays.

Michigan

Has old blue law statute prohibiting showing of pictures on Sunday but statute is not enforced. Holland is only city which has Sunday closing law by city ordinance.

Minnesota

Sunday closing law of 1905 amended 1909 legalizing outdoor sports. In a decision of 1910 motion pictures classed same as sports and allowed to operate on Sundays.

Mississippi

Not legalized. One town, Shaw, operates—they open on Sunday, pay the fine and continue to operate. In May 1942 city commission of Jackson gave permission for Sunday shows but in October State Circuit Court closed Sunday shows after city police chief had declared theaters might remain open. Jackson, Meridian and other towns operate on Sunday by collecting "free will offerings" instead of admission charge.

Missouri

Have Sunday labor laws which include motion pictures for Sunday showing. Law was never enforced and all towns operate except Marshall, Fairfax, Fulton.

Montana

No state statute prohibiting showing of motion pictures on Sunday and no law legalizing such showing, but all towns run shows on Sunday.

Nebraska

Legalized by local option. Sunday shows forbidden in Stromsberg. Town council opened Arnold for Sunday shows Jan. 18, 1937. Beatrice voted for Sunday pictures April 3, 1940.

Nevada

No state legislation against Sunday amusements.

New Hampshire

State passed Sunday sports and entertainment bill in 1931 and individual cities and towns vote on it. 1943 legislature passed law permitting theaters to open Sunday afternoons at 1 p.m. by local option, instead of 6 p.m.

New Jersey

Blue laws repealed in 1933. Towns which have local ordinance prohibiting Sunday shows: Belvedere, Blairstown, Frenchtown, Highbridge, Jamesburg, Metuchen, Ocean Grove, Peapack, Ridgewood, Upper Montclair, Westfield, Nov. 8, 1938—Montclair by referendum vote made Sunday movies legal. State removed ban on Sunday shows in Princeton to provide recreation for men in Army and Navy training camps.

New Mexico

Bill passed 1931 legislature legalizing Sunday showings and prohibiting local option measures from closing theaters

New York

Home rule law by which towns and cities are legalized to show motion pictures on Sunday after 2 p.m., provided local ordinance is enacted to this effect by local legislative body and ratified by direct vote of people at special election. Under this law leading towns and cities show pictures on Sunday.

North Carolina

Not legalized. State law, city ordinances and public opinion opposed to Sunday pictures. The following towns do have Sunday shows Asheville, Benson, Chapel Hill, Dunn, Durham, Elizabeth City, Henderson, High Point, Louisburg, Plymouth, Raleigh, Robersonville, Scotland Neck, Tarboro, Williamston. Sunday films legalized for Cherokee County in 1937. Numerous towns have Sunday shows and a per cent of the proceeds is given to charity. 1939—Sunday closing law repealed in Johnston and Hyde counties. Law also passed 1939 prohibiting Sunday shows in Yadkin county and Sunday movies in Northampton between 1 and 6 p.m. City Council of Sanford approved

Sunday closing in 1940. Sunday movies permitted in Charlotte and Salisbury in 1941.

The Gastonia City Council voted to permit the city's motion picture theaters to open for business on Sunday (Sept. 6, 1955.)

Mount Airy, N. C.—Sunday motion pictures have been authorized by the City Commissioners after Nov. 1, 1955.

North Dakota

Sunday shows legalized by referendum in 1933.

Ohio

Legalized showing on Sunday. Forbidden in Bayesville and Cambridge. On June 18, 1940 Supreme Court of Ohio upheld rights of municipalities to forbid Sunday shows. Wellsville resumed Sunday pictures September, 1946 after being closed since 1914.

Oklahoma

Legalized by local option.

Oregon

Legalized by local option to run shows on Sunday. No closed situation known.

Pennsylvania

Sunday opening law passed in 1935. Legalized by local option. 1941 legislature changed law providing referendum be held every 4 years instead of 5 on request of 20 per cent of highest vote cast for any candidate (old law 5 per cent).

November, 1945 general election opened 15 municipalities to Sunday shows out of 31 voting on question.

November, 1947 general election opened Sunday films in Harrisburg, Altoona, Baden, Bensalem Township, Blakely, Cheswick, Clarion, Columbia, Harrison Township, Jermyn, Jutztown, Laceyville, Lehighton, Marietta, McDonald, Nazareth, Perryville, Phoenixville, Rochester, Tarentum, Tinoesta, Wampum, Wind Gap and York, among others. Proposal was defeated in some 26 towns. November, 1949, general election opened many more places to Sunday films.

November 6, 1951, election legalized Sunday showings in: Butler, Bellevue, Brighton Township, Bedford Township, Butler Township, Summit Township, Osceola Mills, Wayne Township Washington Township, Neshannock Township, Greenville, Franklin Township, Oxford Township, Kenett Square, Scot Township, Loyalsock Township, Montgomery, Hamilton Township, Norristown, Lehigh Township. Shamokin, Mount Carmel Township, Schickshinny, Bangor Township, Palmyra Township, Westfall Township, Berwick, Birmingham, Springfield Township.

The following communities retained the ban: Rural Valley, Everett, Antis Township, Fairview Township, South Fork, State College, College Township, East Brady, Bradford Township, Greene Township, Somerset, Lewisburg, Claysvile, Philipsburg, Mercer, Middletown, Lansdale, Danville, Northumberland, Milton, Schuylkill Haven, Selinsgrove.

November 8, 1955, election legalized Sunday showings in: North Versailles, Franklin (Alleghany Co.), Chippewa, North Sewickley, Hopewell, Franklin (Beaver Co.), Antis Township, Falls, State College, Philipsburg, College Township, Union, Hughesville, Sandy Lake, Danville, Upper Merion, Northumberland, Milton, Somerset, Selingsgrove, Jackson.

The following communities retained the ban: Camp Hill Lemoyne, Penn, Middletown, Paxtang, Halifax, Landsdowne, Antrim, Greene, Mercerburg, Greencastle, Everett, Tyrone, Middleburg, Lewisburg.

Rhode Island

Legalized by local option. 1943 legislature passed law permitting theaters in Providence and several other communities to open at 1 p.m. instead of 2 on Sunday.

South Carolina

Legislature in 1947 passed bill permitting Sunday films after two p.m., except between seven and nine p.m., in cities of 62,000 or more population.

South Dakota

Has state law prohibiting Sunday pictures. Local option has over-ruled this law, however, and pictures are shown on Sunday in all principal towns.

A bill to repeal South Dakota's "blue laws" banning movies and other forms of entertainment on Sundays was passed by the House of Representatives. The vote was 50-22. (Feb. 1955)

Tennessee

Governor signed bill repealing blue laws in 1935 permitting Sunday opening by local option. However, not many operate.

Theaters in Maryville, Tenn., have started operating on Sunday. (Dec. 1951.)

Texas

Governor signed bill legalizing Sunday pictures which became effective in 1931, subject to local option. Prior to passage of law, majority of principal towns were open. Most towns now have Sunday shows.

Utah

No law preventing showing of pictures on Sundays. Former state statute made it illegal to operate a theater on Sunday, but this statute was repealed in 1925. Local option bill was subsequently introduced, but failed to pass.

Vermont

Law permitting Sunday movies after 6 p.m. passed in 1939. 1941 legislature eliminated necessity for voting every year on Sunday amusements, except on petition of 5 per cent of voters.

Virginia

Motion pictures are exhibited on Sunday in Richmond, Norfolk, and various other Virginia cities usually after juries and test cases have failed to convict the exhibitor. In Williams v. Commonwealth 179 Va. 741, decided in 1942, the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia approved the operation of Sunday movies where the proceeds were devoted to charity and three members of the Court, in a concurring opinion, held that the defendant was engaged in a "work of necessity," within the meaning of the Virginia Sunday Observance Law. The effect of this concurring opinion has been far reaching in discouraging prosecutions for the exhibition of motion pictures on Sunday.

Washington

Sunday opening not legalized except in Colfax where old statute providing Sunday closing was attempted to be enforced, but was defeated. Theaters close in Pullman on Sunday evenings as result of friendly arrangement with people of Normal School of Pullman. Theaters throughout state operate without interference. There are no Sunday closing ordinances.

West Virginia

Not legalized, but all principal cities show pictures on Sunday which include Charleston, Bluefield, Huntington, Williamson (theaters in last city open after closing of church in morning and close prior to evening service). Forbidden by local ordinance in Lewisburg, Milton, and Ronceverte.

Wisconsin

Blue laws repealed in 1933.

Wyoming

No state law concerning motion pictures.

RCA PHOTOPHONE:
"The Cameron book is most complete, instructive and interesting. It is a splendid addition to our library."

PURDUE UNIVERSITY, D. Sandow, Chief Projectionist:
"The Cameron book is complete in every detail. Everything pertaining to motion picture projection and sound reproduction is explained simply yet completely. The book is a good feat of technical writing."

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY:
"Cameron's Motion Picture Projection rightly deserves the slogan of being the Standard Authority on projection."

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY:
"The completeness of the work is very impressive. One may turn to practically all available information on any one of the many different phases in connection with motion picture projection. It is the most complete book we know of dealing with projection."

U. S. DEPT. OF COMMERCE, Washington, D. C.
"We recommend the Cameron books to all those interested in sound motion picture projection. There is no better book on the subject."

AMERICAN PROJECTION SOCIETY:
"Cameron's book is the best now available and likely to be for quite some time to come."

SOCIETY OF MOTION PICTURE ENGINEERS, New York, N. Y.:
"The Cameron book is entirely complete, and covers all phases of projection."

BRITISH GUILD OF PROJECTIONISTS, London, Eng.:
"The Cameron book is a projection asset, and we unreservedly recommend it to all projectionists."

BOXOFFICE

In addition to dominance in national and local coverage weekly, BOXOFFICE includes six indispensable guides and "how-to" features: Showmandiser, Booking Chart, Review Digest, Exhibitor Has His Say, Feature and Shorts Reviews, Exploitips . . . Plus one "magazine within the magazine" monthly . . . and two top reference issues annually.

THE MODERN THEATRE

First in total pages devoted to theatre operating methods, construction, maintenance, and concession merchandising. By far, the top medium for equipment and refreshment advertising. (In BOXOFFICE first issue of each month.)

BUYER'S DIRECTORY (Red Key)

The Review-Preview issue of the MODERN THEATRE, extensively covering all facets of theatre operation. Includes "The Key to Better Buying," the most complete classified equipment-service directory available. Other features of year-'round value. (Published in October as a second section of BOXOFICE.)

BAROMETER

The top film review and preview issue. Relied upon by practically every exhibitor as his most useful reference source on product information for booking and buying. Like all the BOXOFFICE services to the industry, BAROMETER is edited to help increase profits at the boxoffice. (Published in January as a second section of BOXOFFICE.)

MOTION PICTURE
EXHIBITOR
38
YEARS of SERVICE to the NATION'S THEATREMEN
Weekly Friend and Adviser to Nearly 10,000 Showmen!

FIRST in the EAST and now a full grown National Weekly serving more than 10,000 Showmen!

$2.00 per year in the U. S. and Canada

MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR is one of the OLDEST of all Motion Picture Industry Trade Papers, having been published continuously since November, 1918 (MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF A CENTURY). Concentrating on a superior coverage of the important, 13-State metropolitan East,—until expanded nationally only seven years ago,—it still retains its leadership in this richest of all industry markets.

MONTHLY FEATURES include: PHYSICAL THEATRE DEPARTMENT, devoted to the Theatre Structure; EXTRA PROFITS DEPARTMENT, devoted to Theatre Confection Vending; STUDIO SURVEY DEPARTMENT, devoted to what is coming from Hollywood; and TIP-OFF ON BUSINESS, a chart of current boxoffice grosses on particular pictures.

A "Theatre-Wise" Weekly . . . known for the honesty of its Reviews!

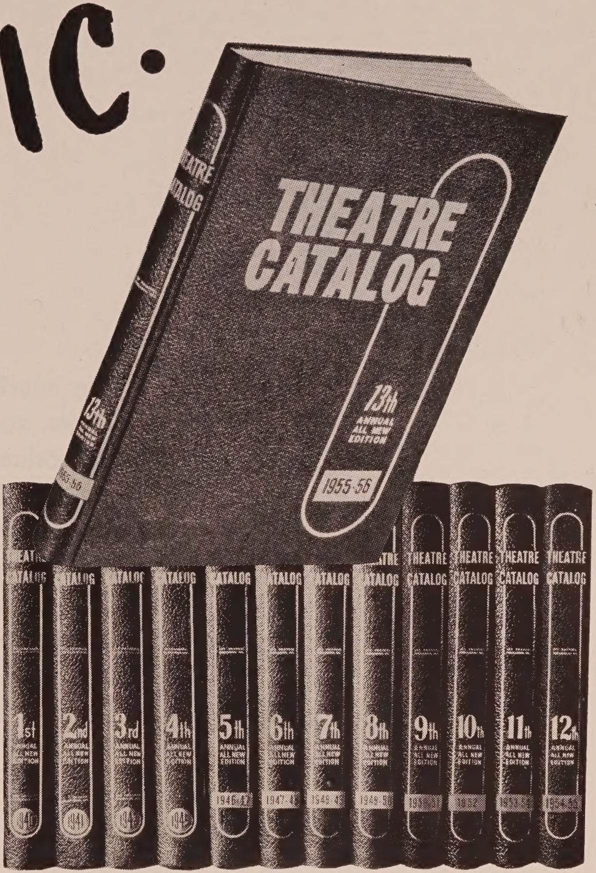
JAY EMANUEL PUBLICATIONS, INC. Publishers of General Publishing and Business Offices: 246-48 North Clarion Street,

BASIC· in the WORLD

. . . in all considerations of: DESIGN, CONSTRUCTION, MAINTENANCE, MANAGEMENT and EQUIPMENT!

Big, stiff-backed, leatherette covered, ANNUAL books, cumulatively indexed to establish the theatre industry's Leading Authority and Reference Source.



CURRENT EDITION: $500 per Copy in the U. S. ($10.00 per Copy for Foreign Shipment)

BACK ISSUES and BACK SETS . . . SPECIAL PRICES upon application

THEATRE CATALOG is the ONE and ONLY permanent reference set of volumes devoted exclusively to the Physical Theatre Building. Each succeeding edition is a complete service unit in itself, . . . and, in combination, their cross references provide the largest single store of knowledge available to the Architect, Theatre Owner, Circuit Executive, Engineer, Decorator, or Theatre Supply Dealer.

the BEST in Theatre Trade Journals and in Theatre Services!

Philadelphia 7, Penna., U.S.A. • Branches in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles

. . . the mark of a technical and craft publication devoted to better visual and sound reproduction. Excellence of editorial content, an outstanding feature of which is the very latest news of and views upon reproducing equipment and technique. Published exclusively for projectionists and affiliated technical personnel — the only technically-minded people in the theatre and a group that exerts profound influence upon the purchase of reproducing equipment, from screen to projection room. Extremely opinionated, with a definitely constructive editorial policy that delights its readers . . . and advertisers.

"Printed Letterpress"

. . is like Sterling on Silver

Just as the word Sterling has been used to mean high quality silver since the 12th century, Letterpress is the standard for comparison of printed material.

Sterling quality in printing can be achieved only with the Letterpress process. The Letterpress printed product has clarity, snap, punch and detail. The blacks are truly black. The halftone dots have a firm, sharp outline.

Letterpress methods are mechanical, controllable and, therefore, precise. Letterpress provides true proofs, the greatest flexibility in the use and re-use of plates.

Quality is taken for granted today in national magazines, textbooks, Bibles and manuals, because they are finely printed by Letterpress.

Whatever your next printed piece might be—if it is worth putting ink on paper, it deserves Letterpress printing . . . and you pay no more for its sterling quality.

Specify it by name: Print it Letterpress!
